102ND HIT HARDEST IN FRANCE

Former First and Second Connecticut Regiments Lead in New England Losses

The 102nd Infantry, formerly the old First and Second Connecticut, has suffered the most heavy losses of the Twenty-sixth Division in France up to date, according to available figures, which give the regiment 242 casualties.

The 26th Division, which sailed last Fall with 27,000 men, has so far suffered nearly 900 casualties. The total for New England, including men in other divisions, is more than 1,100.

Of this number 200 have been killed in action or died of wounds, disease and other causes, 20 are missing and six are known to be prisoners.

Owing to the fact that for a time addresses were withheld by the War Department, these figures are necessarily approximate and may possibly be less than the actual figures.

Spaulding Sent Back to Company; Fate Not Announced

By WILLIAM FLYNN.

Camp Devens, Ayer, May 9.—Private John Austin Spaulding, former professor of German at the Worcester Polytechnic Institute, who was court martialed for alleged unpatriotic utterances, was released from confinement today and sent back to the 26th Company of the Depot Brigade.

The authorities here refused to divulge why Spaulding had been allowed to leave the guardhouse before the decision of the court martial had been reviewed. This was the first time this action had ever been taken in the case of a prisoner at this cantonment.

The decision in Spaulding's case has not been announced and is not expected to be known for at least two weeks, during which time the former German professor is expected to be given the freedom of the cantonment.

1 DEAD, 2 HURT IN ACCIDENT AT WATERTOWN

Car Jumps Track at Car Barn and Pins Victims Against Building

One man was killed, another is not expected to live, and a third was seriously injured, as a result of a peculiar accident at the Galen street, Watertown car barns of the Boston Elevated Street Railway today.

The dead man was Roland A. Bessey, 60, of No. 578 Washington street, Brighton. Laurie Cook, 29, of Myrtle street, Watertown, was fatally injured, and Alexander Bouchey, 60, of East Watertown was seriously injured.

The three men, all of whom were employees of the road, were standing in front of a small house, said to have been occupied by Washington in Revolutionary times. It is but a few yards from the car barn.

A car being driven into the barn jumped the tracks, and before it could be brought to a stop, the front trucks swung across and pinned the men against the building.

The force of the impact was so terrific that fellow employes of the victims were unable to release them. It was found necessary to summon the fire fighting apparatus and firemen worked for half an hour with jacks before they released the three men.

Bessey, who was a lineman, was dead. Cook, a conductor, was in an unconscious condition and was rushed to a hospital, where it was said that there was no hope for him. Bouchey, also a lineman, sustained a severely jammed arm and possible internal injuries.

It is thought that a switch became misplaced after the front of the car had passed over it, throwing the coil of the electric to one side.

GAINS FOR ALLIES IN PICARDY

British Advance Lines East of Amiens, and Recover Ground Near Ypres

London, May 9.—Intense gun-fire, accompanied by vivid flashes, could be heard on the southeastern coast from the other side of the North Sea throughout the night, said a Dover dispatch to the Star today. The firing was heaviest between midnight and 3 o'clock and could be heard well inland. It was suggested that Ostend was being bombarded again, although it was possible that the bombardment was raging on the Ypres front.

By International News Service.

London, May 9.—The British have again advanced their line on the Picardy battle front east of Amiens. They also have driven the Germans back from the parts of the allied line they penetrated on the Flanders front southwest of Ypres, the War Office announced today.

A strong counter attack was made last night against the Germans on the La Clytte-Voormeesseele sector of the Flanders fighting zone, where the Germans, at heavy cost, had gained a footing at certain points on the British front line. The counter-attack was completely successful, and the Germans were hurled back.

2 DIVISIONS IN ATTACK.

The extension of the British line on the Picardy front was carried out between the Somme and Ancre Rivers.

The Germans have renweed their attacks on the front north of Kemmel (from two to four miles southwest of Ypres).

Two German divisions (approximately 20,000 to 30,000 men) took part in the German attack yesterday morning. The Germans sustained heavy losses.

Steel common dropped 1 point to 102. The railroads lost some of their early gains. New Haven reacting more than one point to 33⅜, while Reading dropped from 87 to 85⅞.

Huge New U. S. Guns in France; Million Men by July 1

A dispatch today from John Edwin Nevin, Washington correspondent of the International News Service, revealed the following facts concerning our war activities:

1. American artillery, already in use in the Toul sector in France, outclasses the Teuton artillery, even the famous Austrian Skoda guns.

2. The United States will have at least one million men in France by July 1 of this year.

3. Eleven of the Kaiser's U-boats are positively known to have been destroyed during March and April by American and British destroyers and submarine chasers. The two-months submarine bag may run to twenty.

By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington, May 9.—America's contribution to the allied army reserve which will stop the Hun advance in Belgium, France and Italy, will be at least one million men by July 1.

There will be guns of a new type going with them, designed to cope with the latest terrors of Krupp and the Skoda plants.

The limitations of the United States have been human limitations up to now. These are being overcome with a rapidity that is close to marvelous.

It was learned today that Secretary Baker was characteristically conservative in his announcement last night that his forecast of "half a million," promised the Senate Military Affairs Committee in January to be "over there" early this year, had been made good.

WONDERFUL ACHIEVEMENTS

Figures cannot be dealt with except in round numbers, but it can be said today, on authority that cannot be questioned, that by the time 1918 is half over—July 1, to be exact—the American land forces across the Atlantic will exceed 1,000,000 men.

The troop movements of the last three months, and which will continue indefinitely, provide a chapter of military efficiency which will thrill all Americans when the details can be

'HOBEY' BAKER, HOCKEY STAR, NOW AN 'ACE'

By ERNEST P. ORR,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Paris, April 29 (by mail).—"Hobey" Baker, football and hockey champion, now first lieutenant in the American aerial squadron, has just knocked down his fifth official German airplane.

Although he has been at the front only a few weeks, Baker has scored not only five official victories, but is unofficially credited with having brought down two more machines. They fell in the enemy's lines without being observed by two witnesses, and therefore they are not counted under the French scoring system.

Baker's success has been almost uncanny. On April 12, shortly after joining the famous Lafayette Escadrille, he brought down two enemy aeroplanes within two minutes of each other. Three days later he bagged his fourth official "Boche," and during the same fight he put another enemy flyer out of commission through good machine gun work. Now he is classed as an "ace," and is in the running with the best men in France, such as Lufberry, Nungesser and the new French "ace of aces," Lieutenant Fonck.

PREMIER REPLIES HOTLY

Lloyd George Resents Demand for Committee to Probe Gen. Maurice's Charges

By FLOYD MACGRIFF,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

London, May 9.—Former Premier Asquith made a motion in the House of Commons this afternoon for the appointment of a select committee to investigate the charge made by General Maurice, former director of military operations, that members of the government had made misstatements regarding the British overseas forces.

In making the motion the former premier said that neither he nor any of his colleagues had any part in the composition of General Maurice's letter.

"The demand for a select committee is unprecedented in history," declared Premier Lloyd George in replying to Mr. Asquith. Mr. Lloyd George added that when General Maurice was in the War Office (he is now on active duty in the field) he never challenged the statements of ministers.

"I have been treated unfairly," continued the prime minister. "If was the general's business to tell the members of the cabinet if they had made any mistake."

The Times takes the attitude that debate on the matter can hardly help, but may do harm.

"INTRIGUE MUST END."

"General Maurice's assertion will raise doubt about our co-operation with the French and the establishment of a generalissimo," says the Times. "If General Maurice's assertions are proven the ministry must go out, but if they are unproven the insidious intrigue against the government, which has a deeper inspiration than its agents realize, must end."

The Daily Mail says that the Germans are about to attack again on the Western front, and that the affair must be decided "before we are again at death grips."

The Telegraph deplores the incident, pointing out that the proceed-

STOCKS UP ON RUMOR OF BRITISH VICTORY

New York, May 9.—On the strength of unverified rumors of a big British victory on the western front, prices rose rapidly in the stock market this afternoon. Steel common led in the trading, rising to 103 3-8, a new high record for the year.

BRITISH AGAIN ADVANCE THEIR LINES TO THE EAST OF AMIENS

DRIVE GERMANS BACK FROM POSITIONS TAKEN IN LAST ATTACK

Bucquoy (north of Albert), on Wednesday, during which the British captured thirty prisoners.

German artillery developed great activity during the night around Albert.

The text of the official report follows.

"A successful counter-attack by British and French troops Wednesday evening in the La Clytte-Voormezeele sector drove the enemy from the positions on the sunken road line where he had gained a footing during the morning.

"Our positions were re-established as originally held by us. Several German prisoners were captured.

"This morning the enemy again attacked north of Kemmel and succeeded in pressing back our line slightly at one point. The fighting in that region continues.

INFLICTING HEAVY LOSSES.

"Two German divisions took part in the attack yesterday morning. Heavy casualties were inflicted by our artillery as well as the infantry in the fighting, both during the attack and the subsequent counter attack.

"Local fighting took place yesterday in the region of Bucquoy. We captured thirty prisoners.

"During the night we made further progress between the Somme and Ancre Rivers. Our new positions in this sector were improved and several prisoners were captured.

"Hostile raids were repulsed in the neighborhood of Lens and Merris.

"The enemy's artillery developed considerable activity during the night in the Albert sector."

GUN DUELS ON AVRE.

Heavy artillery duels were reported from the Avre River sector by the French War Office today.

A German patrol was repulsed.

The text of the Paris communique follows:

"Lively artillery firing developed on both sides to the north and south of the Avre. An enemy patrol that was trying to reach our lines in the region of Lach-Apellesaignan was repulsed. There is nothing else to report."

Violent Artillery Duels On the Balkan Front; Serbs Repulse Attacks

By International News Service.

Paris, May 9.—Heavy artillery duels have developed over a large part of the Balkan battle front, it is officially stated. The War Office issued the following communique:

"Artillery activity has developed on both sides between Lake Doiran and Monastir. Two enemy attempts against Serbian positions near Vetrenik and east of the Teherna River bend were repulsed."

Germans Much Depressed by Heavy Casualties; Morale Growing Less

By International News Service.

Washington, May 9.—While some German prisoners captured by the British are convinced that they are winning the war, others are depressed by the enormous casualties and their morale is low, dispatches to the British War Mission today stated.

During the past few days the British have consistently shelled the German support trenches and tram heads with gas shells, with marked results, the dispatches stated. The German concentrations have been disturbed and their preparations paralyzed by the effectiveness of these bombardment.

Prisoners from the 199th Division, captured on May 4, said that they had been unable to obtain rations since May 1, owing to the constant artillery fire, and that the "iron rations" carried on them had gone bad. The dispatches today said the regiment notice appeared to be very discontented and prisoners said that desertion was freely talked of.

The following letter, from a German prisoner on the Amiens front, dated April 12, shows the tenor of the German feeling:

"We are awaiting the enemy. Nothing arrives, neither food nor munitions. The word of command is always 'Forward tomorrow, and economize.' We have only 42 rounds of ammunition left. In the neighborhood there are 500 dead horses, from which we cut pieces at night. What can one do otherwise? Hunger hurts. I never knew what it was like before."

British Capture 600 Prisoners in Taking of Kirkut, Mesopotamia

London, May 9 — The War Office gives out the following statement with regard to the operations in Mesopotamia:

"A portion of our troops entered Kirkut Monday, without opposition. The Turks retired towards the Lesser-Zab river. We took 600 prisoners. Three damaged airplanes were taken by us. Heavy rain has fallen."

GERMANS RENEW FIERCE ATTACK ON HILLS

By FRANK CHARLTON.

International News Service Cable Editor.

Driven from the ground they had occupied on the Flanders front yesterday and again pushed back on the Picardy battle line, the Germans today renewed their efforts in the hill country southwest of Ypres in an effort to break the Anglo-French line upon the chain of heights in that zone.

The British and French, holding the line of La Clytte and Voormezeele (several miles southwest of Ypres) the former last night with a blow against the Germans that sent them reeling from the few points where the Teutons had succeeded in gaining a footing in some advanced allied positions.

POSITIONS ARE INSECURE.

The attack was made in such force and followed so quickly upon the heels of the German assaults that the Teutons had apparently been unable to consolidate the ground.

Opposite Amiens, on the Picardy front, the British advanced and improved their positions between the Somme and Ancre rivers, where they have had a series of successes in the past fortnight. There were no infantry operations on a big scale along that front, however, the big guns playing the chief role in the fighting activity.

The indications are that the Germans intend to concentrate their heaviest pressure along the Ypres salient in an attempt to compel the British to evacuate the city. The German blows yesterday and today were delivered in a northerly direction in the same region where the Teutons were so badly whipped in the all-day struggle on April 29.

ALLIED RESERVES IN FORCE.

General Foch has evidently concentrated a large force of both British and French troops in that sector, and the allied lines are holding with stone wall firmness.

The infantry dashes were preceded by a violent cannonade. The drum fire was so terrific that it was probably audible in England; for London reported today that cannonading could be heard along the southeastern coast of England. It was uncertain whether it came from the Flanders front or whether British warships were attacking the German submarine base at Ostend.

The German attacks are costing them heavily, and it is reported that Von Hindenburg and his chief aide, General Ludendorff, have quarreled as a result of the failure of the drive.

This was the fiftieth day of the German offensive.

Regnier, All-America Football Man in 1909 and Brown Graduate

Private Adrien E. Regnier, a member of Company C, Machine Gun Battalion of the 103d Regiment, who is reported in the latest casualty list as being slightly wounded in widely known in the field of college sports. While in Brown University he was chosen as All-America end in 1909.

Regnier was graduated from Brown in 1910. He is 31, unmarried, and lived with his father, brother and sisters at No. 685 Boulevard, Point of Pines, previous to enlisting in Company C Cavalry at the time of America's entry into the war.

His brother, Oeswald, is also in the service in the same company and regiment.

Adrien was graduated from Dorchester High School where made a name for himself in athletics. At Brown University he captained the basketball and baseball teams in his freshman year. In his final year at college he was captain of the varsity baseball and basketball teams. He played halfback for a time but later shifted to end, where he was the selection of football critics on the All-American eleven for 1909.

He lived with his sisters, Mrs. Morgan ad Miss Annette Regnier, and his father, John Regnier, at Revere.

Conspicuous nose pores

How to reduce them

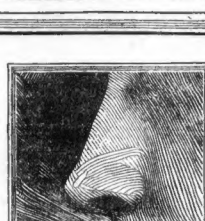
Complexions otherwise flawless are often ruined by conspicuous nose pores.

In such cases the small muscular fibres of the nose have become weakened and do not keep the pores closed as they should be. Instead, these pores collect dirt, clog up and become enlarged.

To reduce enlarged nose pores: wring a cloth from very hot water, lather it with Woodbury's Facial Soap, then hold it to your face. When heat has expanded the pores, rub in very gently a fresh lather of Woodbury's. Repeat this hot water and lather application several times, stopping at once if your nose feels sensitive. Then finish by rubbing the nose for thirty seconds with a lump of ice.

Notice the improvement the very first treatment makes—a promise of what its steady use will do.

Do not expect to change in a week, however, a condition resulting from years of neglect. But use this treatment persistently. It will gradually reduce the enlarged pores until they are inconspicuous.



You will find a 25c cake of Woodbury's Facial Soap sufficient for a month or six weeks of this treatment, and for general use for this time. Get a cake today. For sale everywhere throughout the United States and Canada.

Write today for a week's size cake

For 5c we will send you a trial size cake of Woodbury's Facial Soap large enough to last for a week of any Woodbury treatment, together with the booklet, "A Skin You Love to Touch," which gives a list of skin troubles and the treatment suited to each.

Or for 12c we will send the treatment booklet and samples of Woodbury's Facial Soap, Facial Cream and Powder. Send today to The Andrew Jergens Co., 1934 Spring Grove Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio.

EMILIE GRIGSBY'S PEACEFUL GARDEN LURES A BRITISH WARRIO

COLONEL TRIED IN LONDON

Ward of Late Charles T. Yerkes in New Romance That Leads to Court-Martial

New York, May 9. — The glorious beauty of Emilie Grigsby, ward of the late Charles T. Yerkes, appears to have led one British warrior into serious difficulties with his government, according to dispatches relating to a somewhat sensational court-martial in London.

Colonel Mackay Mackay is the accused officer. He is said to have furnished Miss Grigsby with soldiers to do her garden work and to look after her chickens at her cottage near London. These soldiers were supposed to have been employed at the more serious business of war. The Colonel, the testimony went on to show, was a frequent visitor at Miss Grigsby's cottage and took considerable interest in her poultry and garden efforts.

The result of the court-martial will be announced in due course.

FAMOUS LAW SUITS.

The public eye first encountered the name of Emilie Grigsby in the stories regarding the litigation over Yerkes' estate. He died in 1906 leaving an estate estimated at $125,000 and certain creditors.

The effects of his Fifth avenue home which was filled with costly works of art were sold for the benefit of the creditors, and it developed that Miss Grigsby was occupying a house in another part of the city which had been given to her by Yerkes, together with the lump sum of one million dollars.

This the creditors could not touch and she continued to live in the height of fashion, although the widow of Yerkes was improverished to the various court actions over the estate.

The Yerkes suits were still talked about when Mrs. Stevens Fish nee Miss Grigsby while both were returning from a tour abroad. The society leader was charmed by the young woman and made much of her. As a result, it is said, Miss Grigsby became acquainted with the Spencer Trasks. This social prominence for Miss Grigsby was suddenly ended, because, it was whispered, Mrs. Fish and Mrs. Trask had heard certain things.

Much has been said and written of the beauty of Miss Grigsby. She is described as the "Kentucky type," with a mass of titian hair and a complexion of rare loveliness.

MANICURE GIRL OF 18 IS BRIDE OF MAN 86

New York, May 9.—James Harvey Hart of Brooklyn forgot his eighty-six years and married an eighteen-year-old manicure. His bride, Miss Catherine Wolf of Ridgewood, does not look her eighteen years. She had to produce a birth certificate before Joseph V. Scully, deputy city clerk, would perform the ceremony.

After the wedding the elderly groom sent his bride off to buy a trousseau, which he paid for. He is residing at his niece, Miss Katherine Thompson Hart, to Dr. Henry Keeler. He did not rejoin his bride until 9.30 in the evening.

Meantime the bridegroom's middle-aged daughters and the other members of his family had assembled in his home, South Elliott place and De Kalb avenue, to denounce his act.

SAID TO BE WEALTHY.

The daughters told reporters they considered him "an old fool." They threatened to have the marriage annulled. Mr. Hart is a retired jeweler. He is reputed to be very wealthy. His family say he is not as wealthy as believed. He has three grandchildren.

The girl's family insist it was a love match. Her sister Marie told the story in their apartment on the top floor of a frame building. Catherine Wolf lived there with her widowed mother, Mrs. Mary Wolf, her sister and her brother, Joseph. Marie said:

"Catherine was a manicure in the barber shop at Broadway and Gates avenue. Mr. Hart owned the property. He stopped in there frequently. He noticed Catherine about three months ago and immediately became infatuated with her.

$750 ENGAGEMENT RING.

"At first Catherine would not listen to him. She is a striking girl. Her blond beauty gained her many admirers. But Mr. Hart refused to consider her age. He persisted in his attentions. He forced presents upon her. Finally she came to like him and on last Saturday accepted from him a $750 engagement ring.

"He told her they would have a wedding trip to Japan and the East.

"My mother advised her not to do anything foolish, but Catherine insisted everything would be all right. She said she loved Mr. Hart.

"Finally Catherine told mother that Mr. Hart had promised to give her $50,000 as a wedding present and in addition to protect her dower interest in his estate. In the end my mother gave in, but none of us were present at the wedding."

U. S. SURGEONS ARE WORKING WONDERS

By BERT FORD,

Staff Correspondent of the International News Service.

With the American Army in France, May 9.—The medical branch of the American expeditionary force is highly efficient and, in fact, unsurpassed by that of any other army. American surgery profited from the experiences of the allies adding many important innovations of their own.

The American army has been long known for its progress in the field of hygiene and sanitation. Vast improvements have been made since the Spanish-American War. The tour of the National Guard to the Mexican border developed new lessons, our soldiers that had been wounded or were sick being skillfully treated at the best hospitals at home.

The greatest American specialists are attached to our forces in France and relatives of our troops here may well ease their minds on this score. Marvels of surgery have been and are, achieved and the medical equipment is superb.

FRENCH ARE CO-OPERATING.

The French authorities are sparing no pains or expense to co-operate with us and they are receiving daily the highest praise from our medical chiefs for their generosity.

An entire group of buildings was turned over to us for our use where the greatest American evacuation hospital is located. The doctors, nurses and orderlies attached to all American hospitals behind the line deserve the respect of the folks of their respective States and of all America, for they are accomplishing wonders.

HEARD ONLY PRAISE.

I visited ward after ward after the recent battles in the Apremont area and at Seicheprey, and I heard not a single complaint, only praise. The sick and wounded were all satisfied. Even in the excitement during the battles the system and organization were perfect, every man receiving careful attention. The surgeons and nurses did wonderful team work throughout.

At the evacuation hospitals a minute bacteriological diagnosis is made of every case and record kept of every wound. The danger of infection is reduced to a minimum. The bed clothing is immaculate and the diet excellent.

The American hospital trains now in operation, were made in England to save cargo space and delay. A modern hospital train consists of sixteen coaches and costs close to $200,000.

PLEADS WAR TO FIGHT CHEAPER LIGHT

Edison Company Wants Boston American Hearing Put Off Until Peace Comes

At the fourth hearing of the Gas and Electric Light Commission of the Boston AMERICAN and others for the reduction of rate charges by the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, Frederick M. Ives, counsel for the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, made a formal motion and argument for the postponement of the case until after the war.

Mr. Ives admitted that he had given no notice of this motion to Grenville S. MacFarland, counsel for the Boston AMERICAN and others. The commission was sitting to consider the answers to questions which had been filed by Mr. MacFarland and which the company had objected to answering. Mr. Ives, when the meeting was called to order, arose and read a prepared statement supporting the motion for a postponement of the hearing until after the war.

COST WERE INCREASING.

He said the case ought to be postponed until after the war because the cost of everything was going up so fast that nobody knew what it was going to cost to produce electricity in the near future, and that the opinion of the company the price of electricity ought to be increased rather than decreased; that they had engaged to help them in this case two experts named Jackson, both of whom had now been called into the service by the government, one of whom has gone to France; that President Edgar was serving on committees having to do with war work and was obliged to give a great deal of his time to that service; that the company's employes had been driven to the draft and by volunteering for the government.

That it was difficult, if not impossible, to get the accountants necessary to answer the questions which Mr. Farland had asked and to prepare a proper defence of the case; that Mercury McAdoo of the Treasury and Comptroller Williams of the national government had issued a public statement advising the public service commissions and boards to deal gently with the public utilities and to preserve their credit and their efficiency, and that the commission in California had in a similar case postponed a hearing on gas rates until after the war.

MR. MacFARLAND REPLIES.

Mr. MacFarland, in reply, said that he had not expected to reply to the motion and was not prepared to reply formally to it; that if he had been impressed by arguments in favor of the motion he would have considered it; that the suggestion thrown out by Secretary McAdoo and Comptroller Williams was not applicable to these cases and under all the circumstances he was justified in assuming that it was necessary to guess as to the methods employed to get from these gentlemen these qualifications and truisms, the reaches of which, on account of their other work, they presumably did not have time to consider; that unless they were super-human they could not know the local circumstances, even if they were experts in these electric lighting matters; that their suggestions could not have weight because they could not know the special circumstances of any other particular case.

That, in fact, they were not experts, but as to electric lighting matter merely well-meaning, conscientious, patriotic and overworked, but still laymen with no general knowledge of the art as experts of every with no special knowledge of the facts as laymen.

OVER-RATED ELSEWHERE.

Mr. MacFarland stated that other companies had urged the war as a ground for avoiding attacks upon their rates and that the companies had been over-ruled by the commissions in the other states.

Mr. MacFarland cited particularly the case of the Edison Electric Lighting Company in New York, which had resulted in a very substantial reduction in the rate just before America entered into the war, but during the general war conditions, which have prevailed now for nearly four years, that when America went into the war the company asked for a revision upwards of the rates on account of war conditions and that the commission had refused the company's request.

TO HEAR FORMAL ANSWER.

Mr. MacFarland insisted that the questions which had been submitted to the company were of so difficult as the company declared them to be, that if the company's records were properly kept, the facts desired by the questions ought to be readily at hand; that most of the questions related to conditions existing before the war; that it was important to know these conditions because a rate case may involve the whole financial history of the company.

The commission retired to consult for about fifteen minutes. On returning after conference, Chairman Ward announced that the commission felt that the motion was so important and so fundamental that it would prefer to hear Mr. MacFarland's reply formal reply next Monday.

McCALL NOT SEEKING U. S. SENATORSHIP

Governor McCall, asked today if he had anything to say about his "prospective candidacy" for the United States Senate, replied:

"I have a feeling that just at this time, when there is so much real work to be done, that anyone in the Governor's office, or in any office having war work to do, had better do that work rather than to see to gratify his personal ambition."

It is not understood that those words, "or in any office having war work to do," will please the Hon. John Wingate Weeks, United States Senator from Massachusetts.

GALLERANI, WHO KILLED 3, GETS LIFE TERM

Found Guilty of Shooting at West Springfield; Waives Right of Appeal

Springfield, May 9.—Fred Gallerani, who committed a triple murder in West Springfield last October, was found guilty of the murder of his wife, Amelia, in the Superior Court here today, and, waiving all rights of appeal, was sentenced by Judge Christopher T. Callahan to life imprisonment. He will be taken to the Charlestown State Prison tomorrow to begin his sentence.

Although Gallerani killed three persons, wounded a fourth, and tried to commit suicide, he was tried only for the murder of his wife. On the morning of October 11 he went to the home of his father-in-law, Clement Martoni, and shot Martoni, Mrs. Martoni and Della Rosa Gallerani, his wife's sister. Mrs. Martoni later recovered.

After the shooting, which Gallerani immediately said was in self-defense, he forced his wife to accompany him to the woods, where he hid for two days while posses scoured the country for him. Tracked down at last he shot his wife and fired a bullet into his own head. He recovered from his wound and was placed on trial April 24, charged with murdering his wife.

POSTAL SURRENDERS MESSAGES ABOUT FISH

The Postal Telegraph & Cable Company today surrendered to the Fish Investigation Committee, it produced, by order of the committee, all the telegrams sent during the first fifteen days of November by the Bay State Fish Company to the wholesale and retail fish dealers. Attorney Herbert L. Barrett yesterday stated that the company refused to produce the telegrams. The committee, accordingly, summoned James D. McDonald, manager of the Postal. Mr. McDonald today appeared before the committee with the original telegrams and gave them to the committee. Attorney Barrett today said that the company had no desire to embarass the fish probe. He said that the refusal to deliver the telegrams was prompted by their desire not to involve themselves in an civil or criminal liability.

HITCHCOCK TO HEAD FOREIGN RELATIONS

Washington, May 9.—The Senate Democratic steering committee today voted to recommend the appointment of Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock of Nebraska as chairman of the foreign relations committee to succeed the late Senator Stone. The action is merely perfunctory as Senator Hitchcock's election, although it requires the formality of confirmation by the Senate.

It was decided to recommend Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois for a place on the Finance Committee. Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia was endorsed for a place on the Military Affairs Committee, and Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas for the Foreign Relations Committee.

WANTS RELEASE NOW FROM ARMY, NOT WIFE

There seems to be a difference of opinion in the Blakeley family. Aell banks Blakeley, a chef, enlisted at the British mission in the Canadian cavalry, telling the officers there that he and his wife were about to be divorced. Today he had changed his mind, for Mrs. Nell Wife Lord has taken ill and needed him. He told Capt. C. J. O'Brien, who called Blakeley's attention to his enlistment papers bearing the words, "No dependents—Affairs pending," that he wanted to stick by his wife. Mrs Blakeley, on Tuesday, after her husband enlisted, told the officers at the mission that she was glad of it. Capt. O'Brien could not release Blakeley but gave him till June 14 to report.

Bannwart Sues Lodge for $20,000 for "Assault"

Alexander Bannwart of Dorchester, pacifist and former baseball player, who figured in a physical encounter with United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge in the Capitol at Washington on April 2, 1917, today filed a $20,000 damage suit against Senator Lodge in the Suffolk Superior Court. Bannwart alleges the Senator assaulted him.

The complaint in addition accuses Senator Lodge of having caused Bannwart to be arrested and confined in a Washington police station without "cause or authority" and with having made false and malicious charges against Bannwart.

Bannwart was one of a delegation of Ford Hall pacifists who went to Washington to argue with senators and congressmen against the impending entry of the United States into the war.

Senator Lodge was called to a Senate committee room door by the delegation. It is alleged that a verbal exchange between Bannwart and the Senator culminated in the Senator striking Bannwart on the jaw. Bannwart was then arrested on a assault charge. He was discharged in the Washington police court the next day when Senator Lodge did not appear to prosecute him.

LLOYD GEORGE HOTLY REPLIES TO ASQUITH

The Morning Post expresses the fear that "the fall of the Lloyd George cabinet would bring in the administration ousted in December, 1916. This paper adds:

"We want an administration chosen on the principle of suitableness for the job."

SUPPORT BY UNIONISTS.

The executive committee, at a meeting last night, decided to support the government if any division is taken this evening on the Lloyd George-Maurice debate.

Adherents of Mr. Lloyd George scored strongly by pointing out that ever since M. Clemenceau had been Premier of France, Wilhelm strasse, the street upon which the German Foreign Office stands in Berlin) has ceased to thunder. The Kaiser has also two of "The most dangerous enemies Germany had."

It is generally agreed that it would be the logical thing for Mr. Asquith to step back into the premiership if Lloyd George should go. In view of the "strange hampering alliances" that Mr. Asquith has constantly been making in bitter controversy with the Premier, political observers find it hard to reconcile the past and present policies with the basic principle of the Lloyd George government—"win the war."

Mr. Asquith, it is argued, has become identified in the public mind as making capital out of the peace talk demands of Philip Snowden and Ramsay MacDonald and their cabinet wrecking supporters.

NO STRONG SUCCESSOR.

The absence of efficient Paris "scare speech," for which he has been continually censured by opponents, was used to illustrate that the Italian debacle was due largely to lack of unified command. It is believed that Lloyd George would acknowledge a change of premiers with immediate peace proposals by Germany. That, he feels, but fundamentally fatal to the allies.

Even the most persistent batters of the Premier admit the difficulty of finding a possible successor equally determined to "win the war" in a decisive military victory. That is one of the features of the affair which makes it today so portentous not only to Great Britain, but to all the allied countries, and especially the United States, which went into the struggle with the avowed intention of wiping out Hohenzollernism and militarism.

America is making mammoth preparations to carry out forcefully her intentions, and yet faces a chance of settlement before striking a heavy blow through the weakness of the British government by a change of Premiers.

Little Doubt But That Lloyd George Will Have Majority

By FLOYD MacGRIFF.

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

London, May 9.—"There is little risk of Lloyd George failing to get a majority, but a majority won't indicate the confidence in the conference of the House of Commons during nation's peril will be shown. A majority without an acceptable alternative ministry existent," said the Chronicle in a statement on the vote that is to be taken this evening upon the charges made by General Maurice, former director of military operations at the War Office, that misstatements have been made about certain military matters.

"The debate probably will be less dramatic than the opponents of the government hoped it would be," said the Express. The newspaper added that former Premier Asquith's demand for an investigation committee would not be pressed to a division.

The Unionists have agreed to support the government, while the Liberals have resolved to abstain from voting against the government.

HUGE NEW GUNS ACCOMPANY U. S. ARMY

published. The great fleet of fast transports created by the army and navy and added to by Great Britain, France and Japan has met the great problem of the war—how to utilize the man power of the United States.

Germany knows this. This is the secret of the stupendous German efforts on the western front. They fear the American man power, which will turn the scales through sheer weight of numbers, and they have tried and will continue to try to force the decision before the million Americans and more reach the front. This now will be impossible, army experts say.

CLOSEST CO-OPERATION

The greatest single factor in the troop movements has been Major General George W. Goethals. His reorganization of the quartermaster's department went to every branch. In consequence, the movements of men and supplies have gone forward in the most possible manner. Not alone do men travel overseas on the fast transports, but every supply vessel leaving an Atlantic port carries its quota of soldiers destined for a British or a French port.

General Goethals is co-operating in every way with the navy, and this makes possible the convoy system which is defeating the submarine menace. Germany today is using only her largest type of sea-going submarines, and they are able only to get slow cargo carriers. The squadrons of destroyers that convoy supply ships and transports are doing wonderful work in combating the German undersea craft. The British and American destroyers and submarine chasers probably accounted for twenty submarines during March and April. Eleven are positively known to have been destroyed, confidential reports recording a greater success may. Eight others were attacked, and there is plenty of evidence that they were sunk, but because positive evidence could not be secured they are carried simply as "probably destroyed."

KEEPING PIRATES IN PORT.

By the latter part of this year the coastal protection system will be so extended as to make the coasts of France and Italy that submarine pirates will have to operate so far from their bases that their efficiency will be almost destroyed.

Announcement in last night's dispatches that "American heavy artillery was fired for the first time in the sector northwest of Toul" is far more significant than appears on the surface. Many of the calibre of these guns, and, in fact, all facts about them are withheld for the present, but ordnance officers who know what is going on say these guns are the largest in their line and will outclass the famous Austrian Skodas which the Germans have brought up to try to blast their way through to the coast and to Paris.

In this same artillery surprises Uncle Sam is just now beginning to play his cards, officers who know declare.

They say that when an announcement is made—and the first word very likely will come via Berlin—American steel again will have demonstrated its superiority.

SYSTEM MUCH IMPROVED.

The new system now in effect of moving troops from transport points is a great improvement over the old. No longer are open roadsteads and bays packed with troop transports advertising to enemy spies times and places of sailings. Now transports of troops may be selected ports in the afternoon. At night all transports are steaming. Men and supplies are loaded quickly, and before the first gray streaks of dawn lighten the eastern sky the vessels with their complement of fighting men have put to sea.

Premier Lloyd George has said that this war will be won by the side which is last able to keep on fighting. That is what Uncle Sam is preparing to do right now. Every man in this country who has been in the service for a year or more, and six months of training will be sent abroad this Summer, and the new men who are constantly being called will follow them especially, ready to keep Pershing's divisions at all times recruited to full strength.

ARMISTICE ARRANGED ON UKRAINIAN FRONT

London, May 9.—An armistice has been reached in the Ukrainian fighting front in Russia, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Moscow today. It was negotiated between the Bolsheviki and the Germans, the Ukrainians not taking any part.

Fighting has broken out between the Ukrainians and the Bolsheviki after the Germans made peace with the Ukrainian rada. Germany sent an army into the country at once and been operating against the Bolsheviki forces ever since.

'L' CONTROL BILL WINS VICTORY IN HOUSE

Amendment Giving Governor Power to Appoint Five Trustees Is Adopted

The bill providing for absolute public control of the Boston Elevated and for its operation under the service-at-cost plan went through the third reading stage in the House of Representatives by a vote of 165 to 58.

This was the first test vote. It assures the successful passage of the bill.

If the Committee on Bills in Third Reading completes its work of miscroscoping the phraseology of the measure, it is expected that the bill will take its final reading in the lower branch before tonight.

AMENDMENT ADOPTED.

An amendment providing that the five public trustees who will control and operate the road for benefit of the car-riders, the investors and the general public shall be appointed by the Governor instead of being appointed by the Mayor of Boston was adopted by the House.

Representatives Brown of Woburn and Young of Weston said that the appointment by one appointing-power would provide a single and definite policy and avoid a dual responsibility which might handicap public operation. They said that the appointments should be made by a State official because the city of Boston is financially interested in the subways which form an integral part of the system. The city's investment in the subways might at some time influence the city-appointed trustees to a decision which would be unfair to the other communities served by the Elevated, they said.

An amendment to require the trustees to serve without pay was defeated on the ground that it might preclude a poor man from serving.

OBJECT TO BILL.

Opposition to the bill was voiced by Representative J. L. Donovan and F. J. Burke of Boston. They offered no substitute.

Representative Brown, in opening the debate, said he was convinced that the time had come for public control of the Elevated. He said that the system was approaching a financial crisis, that the service was intolerable and that it was going from bad to worse. He said that much money is needed to rehabilitate the system and that the money will come from the public who patronize the road. He said he felt that the people are suspicious and that they would not consent to come to the support of the road unless they knew that the money for improvement of the service was to be expended by trustees appointed to run the road in the public interest. He said that public control would gain the co-operation of the public, which is a vital asset in the operation of any public utility.

Representative Hays of Brighton said that the bill was as important as any with which the Legislature had to deal in fifty years. He said that he was convinced that public sentiment does not want the road to be operated by "millionaire trustees." He said he would support the bill if it contained the provision that the public trustees be paid for their services.

TO SAFEGUARD PUBLIC.

Representative Worrall of Attleboro explained the provisions of the bill in detail. He said the purpose of the various committees had been to safeguard the public interest. He said that the bill has commanded strong public support and that it has the approval of the Attorney-General. "The corporation is nearly bankrupt," he said, "and the service is terrible. Everyone agrees that something must be done. We think this is a reasonable solution of the problem. I believe the House should welcome any constructive criticism, but should pay little attention to those who would tear down and not upbuild."

Representative Burke of Boston said that it would be impossible to improve the service as long as the war lasts. He said the Boston AMERICAN has editorially supported the bill, that the AMERICAN has abandoned the cause of the people, is a yellow journal and ought to be driven out of Boston.

ROAD MAY COLLAPSE.

Representative Atwood of Boston said that the situation has come to a point where some constructive action must be taken if the people are to receive the service to which they are entitled. "Like everything else the cost of transportation may go up," he said "but the people will be assured that their money is being expended by public trustees who are running the cars for their benefit. Unless something is done the road may collapse. That would be a catastrophe. There may be defects in this bill but it is a pretty good compromise. Can anyone offer anything better?"

SHORTAGE OF MACHINE GUNS DENIED BY BAKER

Washington, May 9.—Secretary Baker expressed confidence in the ability of American manufacturers to produce all machine guns needed by the American army.

The secretary made his statement as a result of several days' investigation of statements that production of the heavy type of browning machine guns was far less than promised by manufacturers.

"There is no shortage of machine guns in the American army," he said, "and there is no reason to believe that there will be."

PHYSICIAN IN DRAFT CASE TAKES STAND

New York, May 9.—Dr. Philip G. Becker took the stand in his own defence in the Federal Court. He is under indictment with Harry Walters, an ex-National Guardsman. Walters accuses the physician of prescribing medicines for drafted men which would give them symptoms of bright's disease.

Dr. Becker said the prescriptions were for Walters' who was a patient. He admitted receiving $50 in marked money from Walters. This was for medicine, he said.

GREATER LYNN WAR CHEST TO OPEN MAY 20

Monday, May 20, will mark the inauguration of the Greater Lynn War Chest Fund, the plan for raising war funds that has been successfully adopted by many cities and towns throughout the country.

Under this plan residents of Lynn, Saugus, Nahant and Swampscott will be called on to contribute a certain sum each week for the duration of the war.

The fund will be used for the demands of the Red Cross, Red Triangle or Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus, Jewish Relief and other wartime organizations. Each person will be asked to make a weekly subscription, and in the case of employes of factories and other industries the amount named by each person will be taken from his or her wages. In this way the employe will not be troubled with the turning over of the money.

Last Sunday a committee of 2,700 men, headed by Edward S. Underwood, president of the Board of Trustees, and Ralph S. Bauer, director-general of the patriotic census committee, secured data on 115,000 people in the districts named. Previously printed slips had been mailed asking the name, address, occupation and if war work were being engaged in at that time.

Harry M. Read is chairman of the Greater Lynn War Chest Fund, which is divided into an executive committee, Board of Trustees and a Publicity Committee.

MAINE TOWN IS LAID IN RUINS BY FIRE

Portland, Me., May 9.—Fires which destroyed practically all of the town of Westport, on an island six miles from Wiscasset; burned a garage and several cottages at Evergreen Landing, Peak's Island, and threatened the towns of Gorham and Yarmouth in Cumberland County, after licking up valuable timberland, caused a loss estimated by the authorities at upwards of $500,000.

Swept by a fifty-mile an hour gale flames which started in a pile of sawdust near a portable mill on the westerly side of the island of Westport, quickly spread to timberland and crossed to the easterly side of the Island, destroying twenty-three buildings occupied by all the year round residents, eleven Summer cottages and a school and early today threatened to sweep every building in the town. It is believed that two men in a team near one of the two portable saw mills which cut spruce boards for Massachusetts box factories were unconsciously responsible for the conflagration, evidently throwing a lighted match into the pile of sawdust.

In brief time both mills were in flames and the fire quickly spread to nearby residences. The island is without a water system, and although aid was summoned from Bath it was ineffectual.

Carried by the high wind the fire quickly spread to the woodlands, and sweeping through them buildings on the easterly side of the island were soon prey of the flames. It is estimated the damage will be in the vicinity of $250,000.

BIG PAGEANT FOR DEVENS BALL FUND SATURDAY

Dorothy and Donald McLeod, who will dance at Camp Devens Baseball Fund festival.

W. Percy Edgar, who is to direct entertainment in aid of Devens Ball Fund.

Plans for the final benefit for the Boston AMERICAN'S Camp Devens Baseball Fund, to be held Saturday night at the Boston Arena, are practically completed and the success of the affair is assured.

This benefit is to consist of a monster carnival and pageant in which more than 1,500 children will participate.

The fact that these children have been drilled for their parts by Lilla Vilen Wyman will mean much to those familiar with affairs of the sort.

The pageant has been rehearsed and will be produced under the direction of W. Percy Edgar, the well known director and producer of entertainments, who has directed Mrs. W. S. Butler's May Festival for the past twenty years.

Mr. Edgar has promised many new and attractive features in addition to the repetition of the entire bill of Mrs. Butler's festival.

Many firms and individuals have volunteered their services to make this last benefit a success.

In the window of Oliver Ditson's Tremont street store is an attractive exhibit which was furnished by the Filene store, advertising the song, "The Boy Scouts of the U. S. A.," which will first be sung at the benefit by a group of 1,500 Boy and Girl Scouts. This song was written by John Mogan, formerly of the Boston Opera Company, and is dedicated to the Boy Scouts of America.

P. W. Archer of the Moxie Company will sell individual cans of Moxie at the benefit, the proceeds of the sale to be devoted to the Camp Devens Baseball Fund.

The ticket sale is to be in charge of Frank Orvitt, former treasurer of the Tremont Theatre and now a chief yeoman in the United States navy.

Tickets are already on sale at the Adams House, Herricks, Wright & Ditson's and the Boston AMERICAN office.

Seats for the benefit are to be had at these places from twenty-five cents up.

Boston society has given its patronage to the affair and the list of patronesses includes most of the prominent people of the Back Bay.

In the absence of Governor McCall, who will be in New York, the State box will be occupied by Lieutenant-Governor Calvin Coolidge and party. Mayor and Mrs. Peters will occupy the city box and special boxes have been set apart for the use of General Hodges from Camp Devens with his staff and Commandant W. R. Rush of the Navy Yard.

The benefit will add the final amount to the baseball fund and put it over the top for once and all.

Up to Saturday subscriptions to this fund may be sent to Lieutenant Robert C. Deming at Camp Devens, who is its official custodian.

SKIP-STOP RULE ADOPTED BY WORCESTER COMPANY

HARVEY UPHOLDS "WAR CHEST" FUND PLAN

Middlesex Official Declares Such Collections Raise Patriotism of Community

A defence of the "War Chest" method of centralizing war-time collections has been issued by George Stanley Harvey, assistant district attorney of Middlesex County and executive secretary of the Malden War Chest Association, incorporated.

Upholding the War Chest side of the argument, Mr. Harvey said the basis for the War Chest idea was substantially as follows:

1—One campaign for all war needs; reaching every one in the community.

2—Reducing waste of time and effort to a minimum.

3—Inducing all to give a maximum.

4—Conserving the financial resources of the community.

5—Eliminating relatively unimportant and increasing the support of the important causes.

6—Raising the patriotism of the community to a higher level.

7—Effecting a new community spirit.

Mr. Harvey said further:

"The War Chest is not an experiment, as is evidenced by the splendid results in the communities where they have conducted these campaigns. Nothing can stop the War Chest now. It is only a question of how large a sum can be raised in each community.

"Contrasting the success of the War Chest movement in various communities with the non-success of various drives by individual societies concerning war activities shows conclusively the superiority, of the War Chest movement.

"Take the instance of Columbus, O., confronted with a multiplicity of small and large money appeals to meet war needs. The war chest received subscriptions from 90,000 subscribers, as against 12,000 reached by any one war activity previously attempted, with apparently the same amount of effort in each campaign.

"Many cities and towns are not War Chest communities, but neither have they successful in any other proposition of raising money as gratuities. In one city recently, where $50,000 was asked, about $12,000 was raised in one activity; in another instance, where $40,000 was asked, about $16,000 was raised, and several sums were so small that they were never published."

WEBSTER MAN PRISONER, NOT DEAD, AS REPORTED

Webster, May 9.—Sergeant Joseph Stonnina, who was previously reported killed in action in France, has been taken a prisoner by the Germans according to word received by his mother, Mrs. Antonia Stonnina of Whitcomb street, in an announcement from the War Department in which the previous communication is corrected.

Gambling on a sure thing

WE DON'T gamble as a firm. It's too dangerous, and besides, this business belongs to the public and no gentleman gambles with somebody else's money.

But when we see a sure thing, that's different! So it was last summer when the chance came along to buy on a rising market more men's underwear than we had ever bought at one time before.

We put together all our loose change and plunged. Call it gambling if you will, there wasn't a chance to lose.

And what happened? Well, we find now that we hold a royal flush to play against two pairs, for the underwear for men that we're selling today is at prices not more and in many cases less than are being asked at WHOLESALE!

You'll find that underwear, if you need some, in the secluded, separate, complete shop for hosiery and underwear along, just inside the door.

The interest coupon on the second Liberty Loan is due May 15 and we will accept them now as payment for merchandise AT FULL VALUE. This refers to the coupon, not to the bond. It is unpatriotic to resell Liberty Bonds.

Filene values in men's suits

A CHAP dropped in day before yesterday and bought five suits. Right on his heels two others bought three each. CRAZY? Yes, crazy like foxes! They were wise enough to follow the papers and see that soon good all-wool suits are going to be low-priced at $75 each, and it is foolish not to take a far look ahead.

These are only seven out of a hundred kinds of suits, but they indicate two things—FIRST, Filene value is obtainable at all prices; SECOND, that no matter what your pocket-book dictates, your wisdom should add "Filene's."

Filene values to demonstrate how all purses are served

Plain Oxford gray suits, $20.
Gray worsted suits, $25.
Military model suits in homespun, a big seller, $25.
Conservative business men's hard finished suits, $30; shepherd checks, overplaids, and brighter looking suits, $30.
Soft gray, light colored summer worsted suits, $35; tailored by Stein-Bloch.
Super-tailored suits: green herringbones and silk striped gray unfinished worsteds, $45.

NATIONAL "DRY" DRIVE HEADED BY BRYAN

Sixty Days' Campaign Will Be Featured by 250,000 Prohibition Telegrams

By International News Service.

Chicago, May 9.—Headquarters of the National "Dry" Federation, of which William Jennings Bryan is president, was opened here today for a campaign throughout the United States to obtain federal prohibition as a military necessity during the war.

The drive, which will last sixty days, will centre on members of Congress. It was stated that at least 250,000 telegrams demanding immediate inhibition of the liquor traffic will be sent. There are 2,997 active branches of the federation, according to W. G. Calderwood of Minneapolis, campaign manager.

Governor Capper of Kansas is treasurer and Rev. Charles Scanlon of Pittsburgh secretary. There are thirty national and State organizations in the federation, numbering, it is said, 18,000,000 men and women.

Only One Left for War Service, and He Awaits Call

Bangor, Me., May 9.—In a little community a few miles from Belfast, known as the Board Landing, there is just one man of military age left. There were seven when the war broke out. Two are in France, Willis and Eugene Harvey, brothers, who have written home of seeing active service in the first-line trenches. They enlisted in the Second Maine and are in the same company. Earl Baker is in the Medical Corps, now in Washington, D. C., for special study. Roy Phinney, Freeman Harvey and Leslie Grindle left last week with the drafted men for Camp Devens and Fort Slocum.

But one of the seven is left at home, Raymond Phinney, who passed for special service and expects a call at any time.

7 SOLDIERS DIE WHEN MORTAR EXPLODES

By International News Service.

Fort Worth, Texas, May 9.—One officer and six enlisted men were killed and nine were seriously wounded at Camp Bowie, when a trench mortar exploded while being used in battle practice.

The dead:

First Lieutenant Allen J. McDavid, Headquarters Company, 142d Infantry; home address, Overton, Tex.

Private Morgan C. Sanders, Headquarters Company, 142d Infantry; home address, Abilene, Tex.

Private Euclid O. Simmons, Company K, 142d Infantry; home address, Henrietta, Tex.

Corporal William P. Attling, Headquarters Company, 141st Infantry; home address, Elena, Tex.

First Class Private Lacey I. Langley, Headquarters Company, 141st Infantry; home address, Waelder, Tex.

Private David Tillman, Headquarters Company, 141st Infantry; home address, Laredo, Tex.

Private John Webber, Headquarters Company, 141st Infantry; home address, Memphis, Tenn.

General Greble, commanding Camp Bowie, and his aides, Captain Houghton and Lieutenant Russell, were standing within about ten yards of the mortar when the explosion occurred.

There were about 1,000 soldiers of the 141st and 142nd infantry at the trenches. Hundreds of civilians were standing at a distance watching the firing.

Located on a hill about 200 feet above the trench system the infantry was firing toward the east trying to destroy a system of first line trenches. The mortar was stationed about 200 yards north of the Benbrook road. About one hundred rounds had been fired when a shell placed in the gun exploded at the base of the gun. The gun was torn to pieces.

The wounded were rushed to the base hospital where they were given treatment.

POLICEMAN DIVES INTO WATER TO RECOVER BODY

Diving into the South Bay, Patrolman John McNabb of the Harbor police grappled the dead body of Patrick Martin, drowned off the wharf at Albany and Dover streets Monday night. Incidentally it was the initial trip of the brand new police boat, Argus, which has just been put into commission as a messenger boat for the Harbor Police station.

The officers on the boat first brought the body to the surface with grappling irons but it slipped out of their grasp and two hours later was again brought nearly to the surface. As it looked as though the body would slip away again, Patrolman McNabb leaped into the water, clothes and all, and held it until pulled aboard the boat.

MOUNT HOPE TO FIGHT NEW CEMETERY

Members of the Mount Hope district are up in arms today as the result of efforts on the part of "persons unknown" to secure permission to establish another cemetery within their limits. There are at present five large cemeteries in that section.

Vigilant citizens discovered that application had been made for a cemetery site on the west side of Canterbury street, between Paine street and Neponset avenue, and extending along the latter avenue almost to Jewett street.

Members of the Mt. Hope Citizens' Association immediately got busy and started to circulate a petition against the project. Many signatures were obtained and a protest meeting resulted.

COUNCIL PERMIT NEEDED.

Under a city ordinance no new cemetery can be located in the district without permission from the City Council after a public hearing. To add to the consternation of property owners in that section, it is rumored that a large tract of land has been looked upon with favor by the State as a new site for an up-to-date state prison. Feeling over the cemetery proposition, however, runs high.

Charles J. Lennon, former president of the Mt. Hope Citizens' Association, and now heading the anti-cemetery committee, declared:

"We are very much opposed to another cemetery in our midst. No amount of argument can convince us that we need another. We have more than our share already.

"A few persons recently applied for a cemetery permit to be located within the limits of Ward 23. That started the objection. We held protest meetings and obtained more than 1,000 signatures to a petition against the project. The district is all stirred up over the matter, and is determined to combat it to a finish. An additional cemetery here would drive many people from their homes.

ALL CEMETERIES THEY NEED.

Jean P. Nickerson, president of the John D. Philbrick Home and School Association of the Mt. Hope district, said:

"We have all the cemeteries we want. Cemeteries always depreciate property values. As an owner of real estate in this district I am naturally opposed to it.

"I understand that a hearing on the proposition will be given by the Board of Health. If so, I will be there to protest. Should the matter ever get to the Mayor and City Council and a public hearing result we will all attend and raise our voices in a common protest.

"There is no room for another cemetery in Ward 23.

George W. Cherry, a prominent member of the Mt. Hope Citizens' Association, said:

"There are altogether too many cemeteries in this district already. Building has actually decreased on account of the proximity of so many burying places.

150 LEATHER PLANT MEN ON STRIKE AT PEABODY

One hundred and fifty employes of the A. C. Lawrence leather plant at Peabody went on strike today because of failure to receive a 20 per cent. increase, which they claim was promised them if they bought Liberty Bonds. The men say that for the past three weeks on each pay day they have been told, "Watch your envelope." Tiring of watching it, they quit. They have been receiving $18 to $20 a week.

VIENNA REPORTS HEAVY ARTILLERY ACTIONS

By International News Service.

Amsterdam, May 9.—A further increase in artillery firing on the Italian front was noted by the Austrian War Office in a copy of an official report received here today from Vienna. It reads:

"The artillery firing was livlier on the southwestern front east of Caposile and near Laghi Bazin and Monte Fertica. Southwest of Monte Alessi an Italian reconnoitring squad was repulsed."

1,512,555 NEW ENGLAND LOAN SUBSCRIBERS

Final Figures of Subscriptions Nearly Ready, but the Showing Is Class A

New England's final figures for the third Liberty Loan campaign will probably be known tomorrow.

The number of subscribers in this section has already passed the million and a half mark, present estimates giving the figure at 1,512,555.

Subscriptions received in the last 24 hours were comparatively small, for the clean-up is now well under way. The figure will be larger tomorrow, for then all delayed subscriptions will be in, it is expected.

The third day after the close of the campaign brought in additional subscriptions of $3,179,000, and raised the total to $2,643,000, a subscription for the district amounting to 134.7 per cent. Of the day's increase Massachusetts furnished $1,193,000 and Boston $395,000. The gross total for Boston is now $113,248,000.

MORE HONOR FLAGS.

Maine, with all banks reporting, showed a gain of $236,000 and a grand total of $18,511,550, or 145 per cent. of its allotment. New Hampshire with two banks missing, has subscribed $15,164,650, or 148 per cent. Four of Vermont's banks were missing in the day's report, but its total was increased by $51,000 to $9,965,-150, a subscription of 156 per cent.

Rhode Island's banks all reported, and the State gained $105,000 to $28,504,450, or 114 per cent. Connecticut's grand total, including the day's report of $402,000, is $55,076,-000, or 106 per cent, of its allotment.

The day's report for Massachusetts, with 13 banks missing, brought the State total to $210,257,950, or 129 per cent. and New England's rate of oversubscription may yet be equalled by the Bay State.

The only honor flags asked for were for South Strafford and Whitingham, Vt. These make the total honor flags given 1,422.

Blue stars were sent to Liberty, which received five stars, and to Searsport, Jonesport, Unity, Prospect, Palermo and Winterport, all in Maine, each receiving one star. West Suffield, Ct., received two stars. Danbury, N. H.; Whitingham, Vt., and Huntington and Franklin, Mass., each received one star.

WOOL MILL SUBSCRIPTIONS

The American Wooten Company announced today that the subscriptions for the third Liberty Bond Loan in the mills and offices of the big textile company amounted to $2,200,250, and in making the total public President William M. Wood expressed his delight at the way the large mills, with their big proportion of foreign-born help, came through so splendidly.

As expected, the big Wood Worsted Mill of Lawrence—the largest of its kind in the world—leads the list with $158,450. The Washington Mill, just across the river in the same city, is a close second with $147,850.

The company's contribution was $1,000,000 and that of the employes $1,202,250. The Boston office employes contributed $15,100 and the New York employes $81,850.

Write McAdoo That "Cradle" Still Rocks for Liberty's Cause

Vice-Chairman William H. McMasters, of the Ward 5 Liberty Loan Committee, has sent the following letter to Secretary McAdoo:

"By direction of Chairman Joseph F. Lomasney of the Ward 5 Liberty Loan Committee, I take pleasure in informing you that Precinct 9 of this ward, in which Faneuil Hall is situated, came through on the third loan with over 20,000 subscriptions for a total of over $3,000,000.

"As the entire population of this precinct is under 10,000, the record for individual subscriptions is better than two for every man, woman and child living in the district.

"All of which tends to show that the 'Cradle of Liberty' is rocking today for the freedom of the world just as faithfully as it rocked when the call first sounded for the liberty of a struggling young nation."

UNLOAD TONS OF CABBAGE ON BOSTON MARKET

The Boston bureau of markets of the United States Department of Agriculture, in a marketing guide for consumers, just issued, says:

Abundant—Potatoes, cabbage, rhubarb, dandelions, asparagus.

Normal—Onions, green beans, lettuce.

Scarce—Spinach, oranges, grapefruit.

During the first three days of this week nearly fifty carloads of Southern cabbage were unloaded on the Boston market. Each carload contains about 550 crates, weighing 100 pounds each. As a result of this large supply, prices were lower.

Locally grown rhubarb, dandelions and asparagus, forced by the warm weather to quicker growth, are arriving in large quantities and all are selling at considerably lower prices.

For Constipation! Physic Purge or Laxative?

Everyone now and then becomes constipated, and millions are chronically in that condition. The perplexing question arises—what to use.

Purgatives and cathartics are drastic and usually cause a reaction. Saline waters are rapid in action but do no more than empty the bowels.

Just as certain an effect, and certainly a much more pleasant one, can be obtained by the use of a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin sold by druggists under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It acts gently, without griping. It is an especially ideal medicine for children, women, old people and others who find purges too powerful.

Only a teaspoonful is required, and by morning the movement is free and complete. A bottle in the house is insurance for the whole family against constipation, indigestion, headaches, flatulency and other digestive ills.

The druggist will refund your money if it fails to do as promised.

NO INCREASE

In spite of enormous increased laboratory costs due to the War the manufacturers of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are sacrificing their profits and absorbing the war taxes, so that this family laxative may remain at the pre-war price of 50c and $1 a large bottle. 25c size by druggists for 25 years

NEWSBOYS WILL BE GUESTS AT FILM PLAY

Advertiser-American to Entertain at "Hearts of the World" Monday Night

Boston's newsboys will have the time of their lives Monday evening, when they will be guests of the Boston AMERICAN and Boston ADVERTISER at the showing of the remarkable film, "Hearts of the World," the splendid Griffith production now at the Majestic Theatre.

The newsboys, who follow closely the fortunes of the war and are familiar with the stories of heroic deeds wrought by soldiers of America and the Allies, are eager indeed to see the scenes in the Griffith picture that show trench life as it actually is.

The boys will meet at the AMERICAN-ADVERTISER office and march to the theatre, where seats will be reserved for them. A special band to escort the guests and a speech of welcome from the stage are under discussion.

"Hearts of he World" is a wonder-film, into the making of which went all the tremendous resources of the Griffith organization. The boys will see in it more than a million fighting men, 20,000 horses in action, artillery roaring along a front of many miles, the exploits of daring airmen and Zeppelin raiders, in charge of the tanks, and the ruthless destruction of cities by military power.

French children in their homes, Britain's Parliament in war-time conclave, the French cabinet and other pictures that show what every one is interested in just now are features of this remarkable film, which is not only a picture of modern warfare, but the story of a romance of absorbing interest.

WILL HAVE 20 CENTS A WEEK TO SPEND

Radcliffe Farmerettes Will Plant Crops for Dummer Boys to Gather In

Oh, won't we jar those Dummer boys
When we a-gardening go,
With beans, potatoes, corn and "sich,"
Abundant row on row.
But isn't it a frightful shame,
(How Dummerites must laugh)
When we have toiled to raise the crops,
We've got to give them half.
(Farmerette Philosophy.)

Miss Priscilla Ring of Quincy, chairman of the Radcliffe College Farm Unit, is recruiting vigorously among the college maids for "farmerettes" to work the farm which Radcliffe is to have on the Dummer Academy grounds at Byfield.

There are several arguments. The great one, of course, is patriotism in the form of adding to the food supply.

The girls are to be paid 20 cents an hour for a six-hour day, which will mean $7.20 per week. But board will be deducted from this, not less than five nor more than seven dollars per week.

MONEY TO SPEND.

At the end of the week each farmerette is sure, even at the top price for board, of twenty cents to spend on ice cream.

But, outside of these arguments, there is another reason that must appeal vividly to the farmerette mind. It's a wonderful change to show those Dummer Academy boys what Radcliffe girls can do in the farming line. For the crops—whatever they amount to—are to be harvested in the Fall by the academy lads and the total is to be divided between Dummer and Radcliffe.

Dummer Academy furnishes the land, about ten acres, also a dormitory to house the Radcliffe squads. Radcliffe finances the farm, providing seeds, fertilizer and labor.

The college girls will do the planting and cultivating. They will report at the academy in squads of fifteen, the first one being due there the middle of June.

A supervisor has been engaged to direct the work. There will, of course, be a chaperon.

ALSO DO HOUSEWORK.

Each girl, in addition to six hours in the field, will be required to take care of her own room and assist in preparation of meals.

Mark H. Baker, treasurer of Radcliffe, who announced the farm plan, mentioned the Newburyport Golf Club, near Byfield, also swimming, canoeing and tennis possibilities.

At mid-September the Radcliffers will retire from the farm and the Dummer Academy boys will come in and literally reap what the girls have sown and cultivated.

The boys may maintain that it is heavier work to harvest crops than to raise them. But the girls will doubtless retort that it takes brains to raise crops, whereas mere muscle will harvest them.

Miss Ring, the chairman, is a member of the junior class. She is the daughter of Commodore James A. Ring, U. S. N. (retired), whose home is on Greenleaf street in Quincy. She graduated from Thayer Academy at Braintree in 1915. At Radcliffe she has been active in Red Cross work and food conservation.

Why say a "better" clothing store?

The Continental

Charles R Talbot Treas

Boylston at Washington — Franklin at Washington

YOU may think it strange, that with a high-class clothing store, long established at Washington and Boylston streets, we should call the new one, at Washington and Franklin streets, a "better" one

Why "knock" the old store? somebody says Why indeed?

The answer is, we're not knocking the old store; we're competing with it; we own both stores, and we're engaged in a friendly competition with ourselves, as a stimulant to both stores

If the men of Boston once come to understand what these stores have to offer in the way of really fine clothing; if they once realize the economy of money and of satisfaction assured in Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes, the only competition either of these Continental clothing stores will need to consider is the competition of the other

It's no criticism of the old store to say that we're trying to make the new one better; we'd be foolish to start a new one if we didn't try to make it better; and our effort to make it better is going to make both stores better

The main thing for us in both stores is to give our customers the best merchandise we can find, at prices as low as they can safely be; to serve the men of this city in things-to-wear in the most efficient manner possible

That's what we're going to do and you're invited to come and have it done for you

HASTY BREAKFAST BRINGS FAINTNESS

Some Food Facts That Everybody Ought to Know

The food we eat is like the fuel that is fed to an engine. When during the forenoon, following a hasty breakfast of toast and coffee, you feel faint and hungry it is your body crying out for fuel.

Many people who are under weight, thin, pale and run down, are actually starving to death because they do not get the proper amount of nourishment from the food they eat. Such people can gain weight only by taking food that is easily absorbed by the system, and such a food tonic is Father John's Medicine, which has tremendous food value.

Scientific tests by expert chemists prove that Father John's Medicine is six times more nourishing than pure milk and many times more valuable as flesh-building food than many of the common articles of diet. Crowded with nourishment and absolutely free from dangerous drugs and alcohol, Father John's Medicine is recognized as the safest tonic flesh builder and tonic food for all the family.

Get a bottle today, take it after meals and at bedtime, and you will find yourself gaining flesh and strength steadily.

Cocoanut Oil Fine for Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Advertisement.

The New Home Treatment for Ugly, Hairy Growths

(Boudoir Secrets)

Here is a simple, yet very effective method for removing hair and fuzz from the face, neck and arms: Cover the objectionable hairs with a paste made by mixing some water with a little powdered delatone. Leave this on for 2 or 3 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs have vanished. No pain or inconvenience attend this treatment, but results will be certain if you are sure to get real delatone.—Advertisement.

BIG SUFFRAGE RALLY TONIGHT ON COMMON

Mrs. Toscan Bennett of Connecticut to Address "Victory" Audience

Members of the National Woman's Party, with other suffragists, representing many of the cities and towns of Massachusetts, will have a mass meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock at Liberty Cottage on the Common.

Brass bands, suffrage speakers and general enthusiasm will make of the meeting a practical victory celebration in honor of the Susan B. Anthony amendment, which came within one vote of passing the Senate and which is scheduled to again go to the Senate tomorrow. Members of the suffrage party are confident that the amendment will pass the Senate with flying colors, and from that time the securing of national suffrage will be only a question of a speedy ratification by 36, or three-quarters, of the State Legislatures.

The chief speaker at tonight's meeting will be Mrs. Toscan Bennett of Connecticut, recognized in that State as the active head of the woman movement here. She is acting chairman of the Connecticut branch of the the National Woman's Party.

Mrs. Bennett will be only one of several prominent women who will speak at the meeting. Others have been instrumental in making the arrangements and in completing committees for active work of the ratification of the amendment, once it is passed.

Mrs. Clara Ware Hill of Newton is in charge of the Boston membership. Between the various extra duties incidental to war work, the care of her home and her four children, Mrs. Hill has found time to complete the arrangements for tonight's meeting, insuring a large attendance of men and women who are interested in the suffrage cause.

DOCTOR GIVES RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR

Well-Known New York Physician Gives Recipe for a Home-Made Gray Hair Remedy.

A. L. Paulson, M. D., who has practiced medicine in New York City for many years, gave out the following recipe for home-made hair remedy: "Gray, streaked or faded hair can be immediately turned black, brown or light brown, whichever shade you desire, by the following simple remedy that you can make at home:

"Merely get a small box of Orlex powder at any drug store. It costs only 25 cents and no extras to buy. Dissolve it in one ounce of water and comb it through the hair. Full directions for use come in each box.

"You need not hesitate to use Orlex, as a $100.00 gold bond comes in each box guaranteeing the user that Orlex does not contain silver, lead, zinc, sulphur, mercury, aniline, coal-tar products or other derivatives.

"It does not rub off, is not sticky or greasy, leaves the hair fluffy. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger."—Advertisement.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Don't stay gray! Nobody can tell when you darken gray, faded hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. It's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, after another application or two, is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

DEMOCRACY — BOSTON, THURSDAY, MAY 9, 1918. — LIBERTY

PIER LIBRARY IS RATED BEST IN SERVICE

Sailors Now Have Access to 1,000 Technical Books and 2,000 of Fiction

On Board the Receiving Ship, Commonwealth Pier, May 8.—"Why," said Y. M. C. A. Secretary David R. Beattie, showing some people over the ship, "this is the finest library in any naval camp in the world; and this is Joseph B. Reardon, the best librarian in the world, in camp or out."

The sentiment is echoed all over the ship. The library, which was founded by Librarian Charles W. Belden of the Boston Public Library with 200 volumes, has grown to 3,000 volumes, all particularly adapted to his clientele, thanks to Mr. Reardon.

Librarian Reardon is attached to the Boston public library, but he gives every minute he can spare from his duties, both day and night, to the ship. He has gathered one of the finest collections of technical books adapted to naval purposes in the country, also, some 2,000 standard works of fiction and modern novels.

The boys on the ship are not greatly interested in the order relative to taking collections at athletic contests. They have a good trainer and they are going in for athletics strong, but purely for sport.

The ship has been a pretty hot place for sleeping the past few nights, and not a few of the new recruits have grumbled. "You guys ought to sleep aboard ship on a hot night in the Carribean. Shut up and go to sleep," shouted an old salt to a bunch of heat-tortured recruits.

There is some talk that the ship will be abandoned as a receiving ship and turned over to the Shipping Board. There is another rumor that the navy is going to take the whole pier for naval purposes. Superintendent John A. Campbell declares that there is no foundation as yet for either rumor.

TO DECORATE GRAVES OF BOYS IN FRANCE

Word has been received at the local Salvation Army headquarters from Colonel William S. Barker, in charge of the Salvation Army work in France, that special arrangements have been made whereby the Army will place flowers and American flags on the graves of American soldiers and sailors. The Salvation Army is prepared to carry out any desires of relatives of fallen soldiers and sailors in regard to decorating their graves, provided the requests are reasonable.

Million Dollar Star of Ragtime Now Carries a Gun

By International News Service.

New York, May 9.—Irving Berlin, the "Daddy of Syncopated Music," is now a private in the ranks of the National Army at Camp Upton.

The composer of "They Were All Out of Step But Jim" is sure to be a welcome addition to the ranks of the Yaphank camp, as he is not only a composer but can sing his own songs in exceptionally good voice.

It is figured that Berlin has made more than a million dollars out of his songs.

TECH RAISING MONEY FOR GUYNEMER MONUMENT

Technology is holding a campaign today to raise funds for the Georges Guynemer Monument Fund. Guynemer will be remembered as the "Ace of Aces," the young French aviator who brought down fifty German airplanes before he was killed. The monument is to be erected in the little French town of Compeigne, where it will be seen by every tourist after the war is over.

EDITORIAL

There are some soldiers who have been making a practice of asking young men in civilian clothes why they are not in uniform. They voice those remarks with the deliberate intention of embarrassing the person to whom they are addressed. This practice is condemned among some of the outfits at Camp Devens and it is anything but a credit to the men in the service.

Fortunately this class of soldiers is small, but examples should be made of them. They are a menace to the good will of the public toward the army. Most of them are slackers at heart. They are peeved because they have been drafted and want to see everybody else in the army with them. It makes no difference to them whether the civilian they are addressing is doing his bit or is shouldering a burden that they would have forsaken. They also lose sight of the fact that the draft leveled all classes, and that when the Government needs those civilians it will take them.

Perhaps their association with real men in the army may cure this class of soldiers. If not, they should be cured by other means.

RIGID PHYSICAL TESTS FOR DRAFTEES

Camp Overcrowded With Men Who Are Unfit, and Who Are Being Trained

By WILLIAM FLYNN.

Camp Devens, Ayer, May 9. — The physical requirements of the drafted men who will come to this cantonment during the five-day period commencing May will be more rigid than those which governed the selection of men in the recent draft calls. This is largely due to the fact that the depot brigade is overcrowded with draftees who are physically unfit for service abroad and who probably will not be ready for some time.

The majority of these have defects which can be cured. They will have to undergo a course of special training in reconstruction units.

Only the men who are physically fit will be allowed to come here in the next draft and they are destined for a particular branch of the service.

The quota for this cantonment in the coming draft is 5,237 white men from all of the New England States with the exception of Rhode Island. The State of Maine, with a minimum of 1,514, will supply the largest number of men. This will also be the largest number of drafted men ever sent from that State to this cantonment at one time.

The New Hampshire quota is 624, Vermont 599 and Massachusetts' 200. The quota for Massachusetts will probably exceed 200 in the next draft, but only that number of men will come here. The others will be sent to camps Upton, Dix and other cantonments.

Donald A. St. James of Worcester, honorably retired as a lieutenant in the Canadian army after being wounded in action in France, is now a private in the National Army and a member of the 15th company of the depot brigade. St. James said he went over to France the first time out of curiosity, and now he wants to go back again under the Stars and Stripes.

St. James left the Fore River works where he was employed in June, 1915, went to Canada and enlisted in the 69th signal battalion. October of the year found him in England and he arrived in the trenches at Kemmel the following February. He fought through the battles of the Somme, Vimy Ridge and several more of the greatest engagements of the war.

On June 9, 1917, in the battle of Lens, he was struck in the back with a piece of shell. When he regained consciousness he was in a hospital in England, and on June 30, 1917, received his commission as a lieutenant for which he had been recommended when wounded.

The wound incapacitated him at that time and he was honorably retired on March 16, 1918. He returned to Halifax on a liner which brought back 2,000 wounded Canadian and American soldiers. On April 9 he left Halifax and went to Boston. He had been in Boston but a short time when he went to Local Board No. 4 and asked to be sent here. He was examined and came up here in the last draft.

Since arriving here, St. James has been subjected to a special physical examination to determine his fitness for further service.

Eugene Hale of Portland, Me., son of United States Senator Frederick Hale of Maine, is another of the new men to come to this cantonment. He enlisted at Washington and was sent here. He is now temporarily assigned to the headquarters troop of which Captain G. Shaw McKean, the division casual officer, is commander.

The members of the 301st Field Signal Battalion, commanded by Major J. J. Dowling of Boston, have taken to the field and are establishing lines of communication between the cantonment and surrounding villages. Company A of this battalion is composed almost entirely of Harvard men. B Company of Dartmouth men and C Company of New England telephone men. The members of C Company, under the command of Lieutenant John Newington, today installed a telephone system on the Hodsdon machine-gun range after completing two systems of communication on the new combat firing range at Still River.

CLEAN RADIATOR AND OILING SYSTEM

Two Points That Should Not Be Overlooked if Good Riding Is Sought

By C. F. DONNOCKER.

Every motorist is thankful for good advice on the care of his car and when it comes from one of the oldest men in the automobile business in Boston it is especially desirable.

F. H. Lucas of the Mitchell-Lucas Motor Company gives some good advice on tuning up and overhauling the car in the following:

"It is not unusual for the man who has stored his car all Winter to give it a good overhauling when he takes it out in the Spring. One of the first things to think of is to remove the anti-freeze mixture from the cooling system. This sounds so simple and obvious that it seems unnecessary to mention it, but you would be surprised to know how many people go right on into Spring and Summer without doing it. Of course anti-freeze mixtures generally boil at considerably lower temperatures than pure water, and this is the simple explanation of many a strange case of 'overheating' in the Spring and early Summer.

"The cooling system should not only be drained by opening the drain-cocks or removing the plugs, but it should be given a generous cleaning by forcing water through it from a hose. In fact, the careful operator will make the system chemically clean by using a soda solution—a pound of ordinary washing soda is enough for a car—being sure to wash out the soda with pure water.

"Another Spring hint which will bear repetition," continued Mr. Lucas, "is to use heavier lubricants throughout the car. This is especially true of the oil in the motor and the grease in the transmission and differential. It is not enough simply to drain out the old oil or greases. They should be washed out along with any deposits or sediment with a copious dose of kerosene. With the motor, for instance, it is a good plan to run the engine a few minutes till warm and then drain out the old oil, replacing it with a gallon or so of kerosene. Run the engine again for a few minutes with the kerosene in it, drain off, allowing plenty of time for the kerosene to drip clean. The oiling system is then thoroughly cleaned and the new lubricant has a chance to do its best work.

"It is an old automobile axiom and never so true as today, that every minute spent tuning the car up in the Spring will mean hours of pleasant, satisfactory service in Summer."

The Boston Commercial Motor Vehicle Association, Inc., has elected these officers and directors: President, J. S. Hathaway; vice-president, J. W. Maguire; treasurer, E. General Gibson Says He Feels That Every Soldier

WHO GOES TO THE FRONT

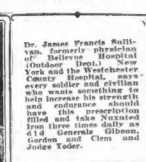
Should Take Nuxated Iron

General John L. Clem, Who Was Sergeant in the U. S. Army at 12 Years of Age; General David Stuart Gordon, Hero of the Battle of Gettysburg; Judge Samuel S. Yoder, for 18 Years a Practicing Physician and Formerly Surgeon Major in the Army, Also Tell How They Were Benefited by a Short Course of This Remarkable Product.

Dr. James Francis Sullivan and other Physicians explain why Nuxated Iron helps to increase strength and endurance and build up weak, nervous, run-down folks.

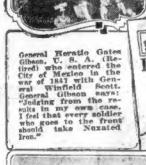
What every soldier most needs is tremendous "staying" strength, power and endurance, with nerves of steel and blood of iron. To help produce this result there is nothing in my experience which I have found to be so valuable as organic iron —Nuxated Iron, says Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly Physician of Bellevue Hospital, Medical Outdoor Dept., New York City, and the Westchester County Hospital. "I have personally found it of such great value as a tonic, strength and blood builder that I believe if General Gibson's advice were followed many of our fighting men would find it of great benefit. In my opinion there is nothing better than organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for enriching the blood and thereby increasing increase strength, energy and endurance."

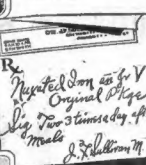
General Horatio Gates Gibson, U. S. A. (Retired) who entered the City of Mexico in the war of 1847 with General Winfield Scott. General Gibson says: "Judging from the results in my own case, I feel that every soldier who goes to the front should take Nuxated Iron."

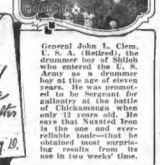


Dr. James Francis Sullivan, Medical Director of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York and the Westchester County Hospital, says: "I favor soldier and civilian who wants something to help increase his strength and endurance should have this prescription filled and take Nuxated Iron three times daily as did General Gibson, Gordon and Clem and Judge Yoder."

General John L. Clem, U. S. A. (Retired), the drummer boy of Shiloh who entered the U. S. Army as a drummer boy at the age of eleven years. He was promoted to be Sergeant for gallantry at the battle of Chickamauga when only 12 years old. He says that Nuxated Iron is the one and ever-reliable tonic—that he considered most surprising results from its use in two weeks' time.







The above is Dr. Sullivan's prescription for enriching the blood and helping to make strong, keen, red-blooded Americans — men and women who dare and do.

General David Stuart Gordon, U. S. A. (Retired), prominent as a soldier and lawyer, and for 18 years a well-known Judge of Gettysburg. General Gordon says: "For my own personal use, Nuxated Iron has made me feel as well and strong as anybody. I am now 69 and ready for another campaign, and if my country needs me, I stand ready to go."

Judge Samuel S. Yoder, Statesman, Jurist and for 18 years a practicing physician, formerly Surgeon Major in the U. S. Army and now Consulting Physician to the Yoder Sanitarium in Dallas, Texas, says: "Nuxated Iron rehabilitates the system in the case of 70 as I am it does, as certain, just as a blessing as to the youth in his teens."

Nuxated Iron was first introduced to the medical profession of this country by Dr. Sullivan, who has made a special study of the use of organic iron in the treatment of various diseases. Since then Nuxated Iron has become widely known and used by physicians and hospitals throughout the country. Many of the most prominent physicians have prescribed it in their own families and in their own practice with most surprising and satisfactory results. And those who seek quickly to increase their strength, power and endurance will find it a most remarkable and wonderfully effective remedy."

If people would only take Nuxated Iron when they feel weak or run-down instead of dosing themselves with habit-forming drugs, stimulants and alcoholic beverages, there would probably thousands who might escape broken down nervous systems, disease and premature old age, and get back to and maintain a condition to ward off the millions of dollars of sickness that are almost continually around us. It is surprising how many people suffer needlessly from deficiency and do not know it. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take from one to two Nuxated Iron tablets three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained.

MANUFACTURERS' NOTE: Nuxated Iron which is prescribed by Dr. Sullivan, and which has been used by General Gibson, General Clem, Judge Yoder and others with such remarkable success is not a secret remedy, but one which is now known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older organic iron products it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful users a definite satisfactory result or your purchase price will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to flush Kidneys if Back hurts or Bladder bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that meat forms uric acid, which almost paralyses the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or side, headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

BARROW IS AROUSED BY SLUMP

Red Sox Manager Calls Upon Ruth to Check Losing Streak

WASHington, D. C., May 9.—Thoroughly aroused by the sudden and unexpected losing streak of the Red Sox, Manager Ed Barrow of the Bostonians today planned to pull "Babe" Ruth off first base and send him in to pitch the final games against the Senators.

With Hollitzel on the injured list, Ruth has been performing daily at the initial station and doing a good job of it, too, but the sudden turn of affairs forces Barrow to turn to the burly southpaw as a morsel of hope or trust the pitching task to one of the second string men, which he is unlikely to do at this time.

If Ruth is chosen to heel the mound, it is likely that "stuffy" McInnis will be shifted to the first bag and Fred Thomas, utility infielder, placed at third, a position which McInnis has been covering admirably since the opening of the season.

The Sox pitching staff which scaled along so smoothly for early three week starting has gone to pieces only one of the Red Sox hurlers in proper shape to perform.

Thomas and Leonard are far below their weight at times.

The Sox have not five straight games to their credit up to today, will return home without a victory on their trip, which points their play on first place is in immediate danger and the Indians but a game behind them.

TUFTS NINE DEPARTS FOR GAME WITH GREEN

Winning eight games in succession, the Tufts College nine was to leave for Hanover, N. H., late today, where tomorrow afternoon it will attempt to repeat last week's victory over the Green.

Yesterday's 5-2 victory over William showed the Medford team to be in a mighty fine form, for the ninth run on second was filled by Ring. He showed up well although Anderson is slated to be on the bag in the Dartmouth contest.

Captain O'Marra will offer up his southpaw curves, with Callahan or Mullin behind the bat. Besides these men, Coach Volk is taking with him Cassidy, Anderson, Ring, Ford, Fallon, Gludus, Kelley and Dixie.

Tufts will cross bats with St. Anselm at Manchester, N. H., Saturday.

REPORT HUGGINS TRYING TO TRADE HIGH FOR MAY

St. Louis, May 9.—A deal is under contemplation between the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Yankees by which Miller Huggins will get Pitcher May, a recruit twirler of the St. Louis club for Outfielder Hugh High. The latter is a St. Louis boy and a favorite here.

It may be a hard task to waive High out of the American League as the Boston Red Sox are anxious to obtain him.

RABBIT and McNALLY ARE TO SEE SEA DUTY

The Navy Yard nine has been broken up again. Rabbit Maranville, Whitey Witt, Herb Pennock and Mike Menosky, big leaguers who have been playing for Jack Barry's aggregation of embryo tars, have turned in their suits, as they expect immediate sea duty.

NEW YORK FANS NOT MOURNING HON. HERZOG

By JACK VEIOCK,
Sports Editor of the International News Service.

New York, May 9.—Charley Herzog is a capable, brainy ball player, and he has a world of confidence in himself.

But if Charley thought he was going to make New York fans feel his loss he might just as well have perished the thought, for the bugs of Gotham refuse to pine for the cantaloupe king from Maryland.

Herzog's attitude in his trouble with the Giants found little sympathy among the fans, for the average baseball fan doesn't worry his head over squabbles between players and owners.

When a player, who had every chance to be immensely popular with the New York public, refused to settle his differences amicably, the public lost all interest in him.

You've got to hand it to Herzog for one thing in particular—he is a mighty clever business man.

He demanded a two-year contract to sign with the Boston club and in addition he asked for a bonus. That he got everything he asked for is a practical certainty.

Whether or not Herzog and Stallings will get along remains to be seen. Herzog is a fiery bird, who is liable to flash temper any time, and Stallings has a combative nature that will brook no such exhibitions from one of his players.

TECH ATHLETES TAKE MEET FROM HARVARD

Technology defeated Harvard in the dual track meet at the Stadium, 67 to 30. Tech piled up its large lead by winning first place in all the running events with the exception of the low hurdles.

Rosert, Tech, won both dashes. Krogness, Harvard freshman captain, also captured two events, the low hurdles and high jump. He added six more points to Harvard's score by finishing second in both the righ hurdles and broad jump.

G. F. Halfacre of Tech annexed the mile run in 4m. 25 4-5s.

IN CORBETT'S CORNER

by James J. Corbett.

This is the fourth of a series of articles which Mr. Corbett has written giving the inside details of the financial side of the Jim Jeffries-Jack Johnson fight at Carson City, Nev. The story comes from Jack Gleason, "The Man Behind," and forms one of the most romantic chapters in pugilism. Many of the details which this series of articles discusses never before have been published. The next chapter will appear tomorrow.

The announcement by Jim Jeffries that he would fight Jack Johnson, made in New York in the Fall of 1909, was a distinct triumph for Jack Gleason—and the culmination of his hopes.

It was the same splendid sportsman who had figured that if Jeffries could be induced to go on the stage in boxing exhibitions, his condition would improve in a few months to a point where Jeffries himself would be convinced that he had a chance to whip the negro. And that is exactly what happened.

Nothing ever could have induced Jeffries to take a chance with Johnson if Jeffries hadn't gone through the preliminary training afforded through his theatrical exhibitions.

GLEASON PUT TO WORK.

Gleason, in scoring this, and knowing that Jeffries wouldn't jump right from retirement to a training camp, cleverly engineered the theatrical arrangements, through which Jeffries, almost unconsciously, worked himself back to something akin to fighting shape.

Jeffries, I am sure, had no real thought in mind of ever fighting again when he appeared on the stage of the Wigwam Theatre in San Francisco, nor did he have any thought of fighting when he began the twenty-week tour under the management of William Morris.

But those weeks and months of exercising in his sparring exhibitions with Berger brought Jeff back to his old-fashioned, husky citizen to an athlete in fair enough condition to warrant the belief that with another six months of training he could get back into topnotch shape for a fight.

Immediately after Jeffries declared that he would fight Johnson, the negro, who happened to be in the vicinity of New York, was summoned and tentative articles for the match were signed.

DATE ALONE FIXED.

The only definite thing about the temporary articles was the date, which was fixed as July 4, 1910.

When the preliminary articles were signed, big-hearted Jeffries hunied up Gleason, and said:

"Jack, if you want to stage this fight, I'll see to it that you get the last bid. I owe an awful lot to you and I want to repay it by letting you in as promoter because I think there will be money in it for anyone who gets it on."

Gleason, up to this time, had no thought of acting as the promoter of the match, but when Jeffries put the proposition to him, Gleason thought it over and said:

"Maybe I will take a chance at it, Jeff. Anyway, hold the last bid down open for me."

A short while later Jeffries concluded his tour under the direction of Morris. And then Harry H. Frazee, now owner of the Red Sox, got into communication with Jeffries and signed him to a contract for a tour of the principal Western cities, in a big athletic carnival.

FRAZEE SIGNS UP CAST.

Frazee signed up Berger, Frank Gotch the late heavyweight wrestling champion, and other sterling athletes. And the band toured the country.

Few attractions ever have equaled the Athletic Carnival in drawing power. The show drew the tremendous sum of $7,019 for one night, while playing in the Auditorium in Denver. It played

GOV. HOLCOMB STATES HEAVYWEIGHT FIGHT IS NOT FOR CONNECTICUT

NEW HAVEN, Ct., May 9.—

There's absolutely no chance of Jess Willard and Fred Fulton fighting their July 4 battle in this State, No, No, not even an outside chance,

James J. Maltvhill, local promoter, has been after the combat. Here's a copy of Governor Holcomb's reply to his letter asking permission to stage the heavyweight championship bout:

Of course this boxing contest is what is commonly known as a prize fight between the heavyweight champion and one who desires to contest the championship. This comes within the provision of our statutes which makes the principals and seconds in a prize fight liable to a fine and imprisonment.

It should be obvious to you that the Governor of the State could not give permission for such a contest to be held in this State, or for an act which is prohibited by statute.

to $5,800 on the opening night in Seattle; drew $4,400 for one night in Portland and $4,200 in Spokane.

The show remained on tour for twelve weeks and three days during which time the gross receipts were in the neighborhood of $200,000.

Jeffries' share of the profits of the tour was $60,000, which, added to the $50,000 from the tour under Morris and the $3,000 from the Wigwam Theatre, meant an income of $113,000 for Jeffries for less than one year.

Truly, Jack Gleason had started Jeffries on his way to reap golden harvest.

TOMMY REAGAN AND SACCO IN TIP-TOP TRIM

By J. P. MURPHY.

Sailor Sacco and Tommy Reagan, East Boston's great lightweight rivals, have completed training for their twelve-round skirmish at the Commercial A. C. tomorrow night.

The two gamsters fought a spirited draw at the Douglas A. C., Chelsea, two weeks ago, but Dan Fleming's decision failed to satisfy, and both requested another meeting. The Commercial A. C. were quick to grab the plum and a packed "house" is bound to turn out.

The Dave Powers-Young Gorin League performs in Dorchester's semi-final. This pair came out scathener than the Siamese twins, but have never yet failed to provide action of the most torrid sort, and their "steenth" set-to should be no exception to the rule.

Two pert pairs will furnish the six-rounders, Wm. Young Chaney of Beachmont, and Freddie Webb of Weymouth, and Young Alger, Greek champion, and Young Varney of Lawrence.

A monster benefit is to be tendered Johnny Gallant, former lightweight star, in the Douglas A. C. clubroom, Chelsea, tonight.

Gallant has been in poor health of late months and because of lack of funds has not been able to secure proper treatment. His friends have taken this means of aiding him and the local boxing fans, who have never failed to aid a worthy cause, are bound to do their bit and to make the testimonial a huge success.

Johnny Dundee, famous Italian lightweight, who was the last man to engage Gallant in ring combat, has notified the committee in charge that he will be on hand to do his part. Dundee has already subscribed $50 to the fund.

Other boxers who have volunteered their services include Johnny Nessan, Joe Eagan, Tommy Hobson, Johnny Grey, Al Lacy, Joe Wiley, Kid Taylor, Jimmy Hanlon, Young Schindler, Johnny Monahan and Joe Mangan. It is expected that at least ten bouts will be staged, in addition to a musical and vaudeville entertainment. The Leo Feist Song Duly trios will be among the singing headliners.

The committee in charge of the benefit comprises George Hayes, Eddie Dunn, Joe Colgan, A. Davis and Charley Sloan.

KID HERMAN IS GIVEN WALLOPING BY CHANEY

Baltimore, May 9—Pete (Kid) Herman of New Orleans, bantamweight champion, was given a severe lacing by Young Chaney. The bout went ten rounds to no-decision. Herman was outpointed at every stage and, in the opinion of most of the fans outscored

Long before the time for the curtain to go up on D. W. GRIFFITH'S tremendous production, "HEARTS OF THE WORLD," hundreds of anxious patrons were forced to leave the theatre disappointed.

Many of these patrons secured tickets from the speculators at an advance price over the regular scale of 25c to $1.50.

William Elliott, F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest, managers for D. W. GRIFFITH'S "HEARTS OF THE WORLD," wish to warn all patrons to secure their seats in advance to avoid these speculators.

The storeroom used by the speculators is in no way connected with the MAJESTIC THEATRE, and those who purchase tickets there do so at their own volition, knowing that they are paying a price away beyond the scale of prices listed at the box office of the MAJESTIC THEATRE.

As seats are sold at the box office of the MAJESTIC THEATRE several weeks in advance, the management assumes no responsibility for the extra charge exacted by the speculators.

Ticket speculators are not allowed to enter the MAJESTIC THEATRE lobby, nor solicit trade within the MAJESTIC THEATRE building.

The prices for "HEARTS OF THE WORLD" always have been, and always will be, 25c to $1 for the daily matinees, and 25c to $1.50 for the evening performances, INCLUDING SUNDAY EVENING.

The only possible way to avoid the speculators is to secure seats IN ADVANCE. By so doing, no premium will have to be paid.

"HEARTS OF THE WORLD" is the greatest sensation in the history of the Boston stage, and for this reason the ticket speculators are trying to reap a harvest by selling tickets at a premium.

Don't Patronize the Speculators

COMES BACK TO SEE AMERICA IN WAR TIME

By FRED J. McISAAC.

Lady Chetwynd, star of "Her Country," is revisiting America, her native land, for the first time in many years. She went to England at the age of sixteen, married and has spent her life among English people.

"But when my own country went to war, I wanted to come back and see it," she told me yesterday afternoon in her suite at the Copley Plaza. "We Americans in England endured much during the years before America threw herself into the fray.

"The English could not understand why we did not help them. It was plain to them—and it is to us now, since Germany was a world menace which threatened America as well as Europe and that it was our duty to help crush it. They said some unkind things about us, but it is all changed now. They are full of admiration at the manner in which this country has taken hold.

"I lived in London during the air raids. I assure you they are terrible experiences, sitting for hours in your cellar not knowing at what minute the house may be knocked about your ears. Only old people fled to the country during the earlier air raids, but their servants protested against being left alone to take the risks and most people realized that they were right. So we stuck it out together.

"Right outside my house in Park lane a big air gun is stationed. Every time a raid occurs that gun goes off and breaks all the windows in the house, and all the houses round about. It is part of our air barrage. This barrage is so efficient that the German planes do not dare come lower than 20,000 feet, and from that height their aim is no poor that they do not do near as much damage as they used to do.

"Our own shrapnel does a tremendous amount of damage, however, falling back as it does. It is as much for that reason as fear of bombs that people take to the cellars during the raids.

"It is marvellous how the English have behaved during this war and their soldiers are positively magnificent. They are always cheerful, always joking and laughing, although they never know when they will die.

"The women are doing the suffering. Young women have haggard faces; you almost never see a pretty, fresh-looking English girl, because worry has lined their faces so deeply."

Lady Chetwynd went on the stage in England four or five years ago as Rosa Lynd, and is popular on the other side.

"I did not wish to use my title in America," she explained, "but I decided to my managers who thought it might help the play. I would prefer to come to Boston without attracting attention to myself and I shall not use it next season if I play in America."

An Impudent Extortion

How the People of Massachusetts Have Been Robbed by the Fish Trust

The hope which the AMERICAN expressed a few weeks ago that the legislative investigation of the fish industry of Massachusetts would be thorough, and would throw some light upon the causes of the great increase in the price of this important food staple, has been fully realized already, with the investigation still in full swing. These are some of the interesting things that the committee has already unearthed:

1. A CITY BOARD OF TRADE TRANSFORMED INTO A PRICE-FIXING ORGANIZATION, determining by "gentlemen's agreement," with the aid of business boycotts, both the prices paid to fishermen for their catch and the prices charged by wholesalers to retailers.

2. A group of forty "independent" steam trawlers and wholesale fish dealers, whose united capital was less than a million, consolidated into an eight-million trust by a New York banker-promoter, WHOSE FEE WAS TWO AND A HALF MILLIONS IN 6 PER CENT SECURITIES.

3. A Boston banker drawing $12,000 a year in dividends on Fish Trust stock that cost him nothing, and for which he admittedly renders no equivalent of service—apparently "let in" on the deal merely on the general principle of keeping Boston financiers contented when Wall Street has a melon to cut in a Bay State melon patch.

4. A STATE PIER LEASED FOR THIRTY YEARS TO THE TRUST FOR HALF ITS VALUE, AND SUCCESSFULLY USED BY THE TRUST TO HEAD OFF INDEPENDENT COMPETITION AND TO SHUT OUT THE PUBLIC FROM DIRECT DEALINGS WITH THE FISHERMEN THEMSELVES.

5. A tax of 1 per cent. of the value of their catch levied upon all the fishermen and pocketed by the Trust.

6. Six per cent. dividends "earned" each year upon the seven millions of watered stock, ADDING $500,000 A YEAR TO THE WHOLESALE PRICES OF FISH TO THE RETAILERS.

In short, we have right here in Massachusetts, the home of anti-stockwatering laws and the Hisgen anti-monopoly act, an up-to-date trust exemplifying in miniature the ways that are dark and the tricks that are by no means vain for which we have vainly imagined that the Steel Trust, the Oil Trust, and the other offsprings of Wall Street are peculiar, AND THIS BABY ELEPHANT OF A FOOD MONOPOLY SUBSIDIZED OUT OF THE PUBLIC TREASURY AND HARBORED ON PUBLIC PROPERTY under the very shadow of the gilded dome on Beacon Hill!

Now that the Legislature has this by no means white elephant on its hands, what will it do with it? THE CITY OF CLEVELAND, A FEW YEARS AGO, WAS CONFRONTED BY A SIMILAR PROBLEM AND SOLVED IT IN SHORT ORDER. The Lake Erie fishermen were being forced to sell their catch to the local fish trust, which paid them three cents a pound and charged the retailers fifteen cents. THE CITY ESTABLISHED AN OPEN MARKET, BOUGHT THE FISH FROM THE FISHERMEN DIRECT, AND SOLD THEM TO THE RETAILERS AT AN ADVANCE OF TWO CENTS A POUND, WHICH COVERED ALL EXPENSES. THE TRUST WAS OF COURSE FORCED TO MEET THE CITY'S PRICE, AND THE CONSUMERS GOT THEIR FISH FOR HALF ITS PREVIOUS COST IN CONSEQUENCE.

Will the Massachusetts Legislature take this lesson to heart, or will it waste its energies in attempts at punishment which will probably prove futile, and at the best will neither give back to the public the excess prices already paid nor insure better treatment in the future?

THE ONE REMEDY FOR MONOPOLISTIC EXTORTION IS PUBLIC TRADING. Profiteering in a food product so important as fish HAS CERTAINLY CREATED AN "EXIGENCY," AND VESTED IN THE LEGISLATURE THE NEW POWERS conferred by the public trading amendment engrafted upon our State constitution last year. HAS THE LEGISLATURE THE COMMON SENSE AND THE COURAGE TO USE THESE POWERS, TO FREE OUR FISHERMEN FROM AN ODIOUS BONDAGE, AND TO PUT A SUMMARY END TO THIS PARTICULARLY BAREFACED SAMPLE OF FOOD PROFITEERING?

Will the United States Department of Justice deal with this situation as promptly and as vigorously as it deserves? The impudence of using public property, in the midst of a terrible war, to plunder the public in the very necessaries of life is unequalled even in the long, gruesome annals of monopoly and extortion. Can such a thing go unpunished in these days?

GIRLS AND STREET-CAR SEATS

Girls who enter a crowded car and make remarks about men who don't offer their seats are worse than the men who fail to extend this courtesy.

When girls attempt to procure seats by making men uncomfortable they have lowered themselves in the estimation of every real woman in the car.

Many girls are so selfish that they are willing to take the seat of the man in soiled clothes who has been working hard all day and is tired.

The laboring man who soils his hands that he may produce some thing to make life more endurable for others is entitled to the rest he can get in his seat riding home after the day's work, and it may be the only rest spell he has during waking hours.

Selfish girls of this sort when favored either fail to thank the one who gives up his seat or else mumble something devoid of the first sign of sincerity.

Then, if some well-dressed young chap favors them in a car they smile graciously and appreciatively—and this merely because he wears better clothes.

No wonder men look with contempt on this sort of feminine lesch.

It does not take much talent in observation to spot this kind of girl, and in the long run she loses out—she is no credit to her sex.

Three Souls—A Single Thought

AN ALLEGORY FROM MARS PREACHES TRUTH

By Garrett P. Serviss

I HAVE had a dream which I am going to relate to you. I dreamt that I was an astronomer on Mars, looking through a great telescope at the earth up in the sky. It hung before me, a shining spotted globe, and when I noticed its snowy white polar caps and its blue and gray expanses I said to myself:

"I believe that that planet must be inhabited; it looks very lifelike."

Just at that moment a benevolent spirit made his appearance at my elbow, in the darkness under the great dome, where I sat alone at the telescope and reached out his hand with some glittering object.

"Take it," he said.

"What shall I do with it?" I asked.

"Look," was his reply.

Then I took it, and perceived that it was a wonderful eye-piece for the telescope, and placing it in the tube I looked through, and immediately the globe I had been watching expanded on all sides beyond the telescopic field, and I seemed to be looking down upon a vast landscape made up of fields, rivers, forests, hills, cities and mountains, and in the midst of it, winding this way and that, were two long moving, crawling, expanding, contracting and twisting lines, like two mighty serpents locked in a death grapple. While I was wondering at this the spirit said:

"Turn the thumbscrew."

I turned it, and at once the magnifying power increased a thousandfold, so that now I saw that the mysterious lines were two armies composed of millions of soldiers engaged in a fearful struggle.

"Look at the leaders," the spirit whispered in my ear.

What He Saw.

So I looked, and on one side I saw steel-capped men with shining spikes on their heads and fury in their bloodshot eyes, whipping and driving their soldiers into the midst of the awful carnage, and on the other side I perceived the leaders in the midst of their men, encouraging them and leading them in desperate resistance. And then I caught sight of the banners of the opposing hosts. On one was daunted a great black death's head under which was inscribed:

"Our joy is in glorious war! World power or downfall!"

But the other banner was spangled all over with piercing stars, amid which gleamed, as if set in diamonds, the words:

"Justice, Humanity and Liberty or Death!"

As breathless I watched the dreadful battle, suddenly my heart sank, for I saw that the hosts that fought under the black flag were pressing the others ever back and trampling them into the blood-soaked soil, and I heard the shouts and songs that they uttered, and I was shaken with horror, for, as they advanced singing, they spread fire, ravage, murder and outrage on every side; they tore women from their homes and immolated children and young girls and stood old men against walls and shot them down, and continually they yelled to one another:

"Kill! Kill

"Spare none!

"The world is ours!"

And their spike-headed leaders, behind, encouraged and praised their deeds of lust and cruelty and showered medals upon them in reward.

Heavy With Sorrow.

Then I hung my head in sorrow, and would look no longer, but the good spirit said, encouragingly:

"Look behind."

So I looked again. I beheld a glorious figure, clad in white and cerulean blue, waving the star-spangled banner over those departing, while toward those remaining she held out something white, and her words to the multitude were urgent.

"If ye for whom these thousands willingly go to die will not sustain them in the struggle, then shall their cause be lost, and yours, though ye know it not, and this world shall remain forever the red shambles of the war god!"

Thereupon all the multitude turned to her and grasped what she held in her hand, and instantly marching lines were strengthened. Then the good spirit cried in my ear:

"LIBERTY BONDS: FOR THE REDEMPTION OF HUMANITY!"

INDECISION KEEPS ONE BACK A TRIFLE

By Mrs. Wilson Woodrow

"DEAR Mrs. Woodrow—I have been reading your articles and would greatly appreciate an answer to my problem. I am a young girl of sixteen and work as a stenographer. I have a good home and parents, but I am not happy. I have two bad faults: One of them is that I very seldom get angry, but when I do it is not very pleasant to be around.

"The other is this: I am a pessimist, and the worst of it is that I know it. I am a strong-willed girl, and if I chose to become an optimist I could do so. But I see no reason to change.

"I get up in the morning, go to work, come home in the evening, study my music and go to bed. I want the monotony of my daily routine changed. But how to change it, I do not know.

"I want excitement. I want something to do that will make me content with living. But I do not know what to do."

Routine's Malady

And, by the same token, there are other temperaments which love monotony and routine. They lean against it as against a wall. It is something stable and real to them, and it gives them a sense of security and peace.

As for your violent temper, that is merely a mental protest against your state of boredom. It is nature's way of establishing an equilibrium. If you went about seething with these discontented and unhappy thoughts and always suppressed them the effect upon yourself would be worse than the effect of your tempers are upon others.

But there is a better way. Your tantrums will abate when your energies find their proper channel.

I believe with all my soul—and observation has only strengthened the belief—that the vast majority of people are ill or unhappy because they are not following the true bent of their natures. They are not doing the thing that something deep in them urges them to do.

A great many people will tell you that they have no especial bent. But that is because they have listened more attentively to the opinions of other people regarding them than to the voices of their own souls.

Study Your Gift

I don't believe in limitations.

My dear, drop the pessimism and rejoice over your good fortune. Just pause and consider your luck for a moment. You are young and healthy and intelligent. You have a happy home, and you are already able to earn your own living. The training which enables you to do so will be useful and valuable to you throughout your life. You have no responsibilities.

If you cared greatly for either your work or your music, it would be different. But it is evident that neither of them is to you a very intense or vital interest. To be healthy and happy we have got to really love whatever greatly occupies our time and thought. We must be more interested in it than in anything else in the world.

Now you have plenty of time to give to the fascinating pursuit of deciding just what you want to make of yourself. Don't go about consulting your friends on the subject. Think it over unaided and alone.

A. E. I. O. U.

By KENNETH L. ROBERTS.

Over four and a quarter centuries ago Frederick III., Holy Roman Emperor and fifth Duke of Austria, originated the phrase "Austriae Est Imperare Orbi Universo," or "It is Austria's destiny to rule the entire world," and adopted the initials of the Latin words as his favorite device. Subsequent rulers of Austria have continued to have the initials A. E. I. O. U. engraved on their toilet articles, note paper and cigarette cases in token of the high estate to which Austria some day expects to rise. If Frederick III. had been a good English scholar, however, and had been given the opportunity to observe the gay and careful manner in which Germany is preparing to swallow the dual monarchy, he would have interpreted the letters A. E. I. O. U. by the words Austria Ends in Overwhelming Upset, and eliminated all the nonsense about imparing the sch[illegible]
